RUSSIANS SMASH TO BANKS OF ODER RIVER

ALONG 70-MILE FRONT ZHUKOV MASSES UNITS FOR ATTACK ON BERLIN'S GREATEST DEFENSES

German High Command Claims it Has Hurled in Reserves to Halt Invading Columns Now Advancing East of Frankfurt

RED AIR FLEET IS RAKING MILITARY HIGHWAYS

By JAMES F. KING

London, Feb. 1—(AP)—The Russians with their fast-paced tanks and infantry have smashed to the banks of the Oder northwest of Kustrin at a point about 39 miles from Berlin, the German high command announced today.

It was possible that the Russians were even closer than 39 miles, for the German communique did not give the exact location of the penetration to the river. The Oder swings to within 28 miles of Berlin northwest of Kustrin, but immediately northwest of Kustrin it is 39 miles from the capital, and it seemed more likely that a point in the Kustrin vicinity was meant.

The eastern edge of Kustrin itself, one of the chief defenses of the German capital, was reached by the swift Soviet punches rapidly spreading the fires of war to the heart of the Reich, said German broadcasts.

Along a 70-mile front Marshal Gregory Zhukov massed waves of tanks and infantry for a quick smash at Berlin's greatest defenses.

But at the center of his spearhead in the 40-mile-wide Frankfurt salient between the Oder and the Warthe, the German high command said it had hurled in its reserves to halt the invading columns, which already had broken through a defense shield 23 miles east of Frankfurt.

Red air fleet planes raked the Berlin-Frankfurt highway and Moscow dispatches said Nazi prisoners reported panic in the German capital because German civilians believed the airmen's red flares were artillery flashes.

Officially, Moscow placed the closest Soviet approach to Berlin at 63 miles, but an Associated Press dispatch from Moscow virtually confirmed the German reports of a much deeper advance.

Kustrin, a 16th century fortified town of 16,000, is on the east bank of the Oder and on the north bank of the Warthe at the confluence of the two rivers.

DNB said this key town, one of the chief defenses of Berlin, was approached by Zhukov's forces on the north side of the Warthe which captured Lansberg and then moved on to Beyersdorf, 63 miles north of Berlin.

It was about Frankfurt, a city of 75,000 on the west side of the Oder 17 miles south of Kustrin, that the Germans had grouped their strongest fortifications along the line of the Oder to protect communications between Berlin and Breslau in Silesia.

With his wings spread out on a 70-mile front, Zhukov was preparing for a mighty battle along the Oder which might break German resistance and let the Red army flood into Berlin.

The Germans were reported dynamiting, shelling and bombing the Oder in a frantic effort to break up natural ice bridges.

The Russians quoted German prisoners as saying large elements of the German air force had been stripped from the Cologne and Aachen sector of the western front as the Nazi high command threw in everything to stop the Russians.

Meanwhile, Gauleiter-dictator Paul Goebbels of Berlin was reported preparing a death-stand defense of Berlin.

"The enemy is ready to launch a frontal attack on the capital," the Berlin broadcast told the people.

Three Swedish travelers, who had just reached Sweden from Berlin, were quoted in a Stockholm dispatch as saying that flashes from frontline artillery duels could be seen in Berlin. The thunder of battle, however, was not yet audible in the capital, they said.

Air passengers arriving in Sweden yesterday said that 10 to 20 exacuation trains were being run out of Berlin daily, taking residents to the southern province of Saxony.

Labor Draft Still Faces Minor Hurdle

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—Its two biggest obstacles cleared, limited national service legislation faced a relatively minor hurdle today before final house passage sends it to the senate.

Barring an unexpected upset, it will leave the house in substantially the form recommended by the military committee—minus controversial "anti-closed shop" and "anti-discrimination" provisions which earlier had threatened to kill it.

Safe voting margins piled up yesterday to knockd down those two explosive proposals were counted on by backers of the legislation to hold firm today. They believe also they can turn back any other amendments to the legislation which was requested by President Roosevelt to provide the manpower needed for expanded war production.

"It's all over but the formality of a vote," said Chairman May (D-Ky) of the military committee. The bill will be passed late today by a margin of at least two to one, and there will be no major amendments."

Still to be disposed of are proposals:

To approach the manpower problem on a voluntary basis by giving the War Manpower Commission power to enforce employment ceilings on industry.

To put legal teeth into the WMC's existing job referral system by which it has sought to persuade men to move into essential jobs.

The military committee bill—a coercive proposition—provides that any man between 18 and 45 may be directed by his local draft board to take an essential job under threat of induction, fine or imprisonment.

100 Reported Dead In Mexican Wreck

Mexico City, Feb. 1—(AP)—More than 100 persons were reported killed and about 150 injured in a rear end collision of trains at Cazadero, state of Hidalgo, about 100 miles north of here at 12:47 a. m. today.

It was said a freight train crashed into the rear of a passenger train of Pilgrims passing the station of Cazadero and bound for Mexico City. The pilgrims were returning from a religious festival for the Virgin Mary at San Juan De Los Lagos, in the state of Jalisco.

Ban on Conventions Expected To Ease Hotel Room Shortage

By the Associated Press

The nation's hotel keepers today greeted the start of the government's ban on non-essential conventions with both relief and apprehension.

An Associated Press survey indicated the ban would ease the hotel room shortage in such cities as New York, Philadelphia, New Orleans and Cleveland, but a spokesman for the American Hotel Association said the government ruling would cut business sharply in many cities where hotels were not crowded.

The ban, effective today, prohibits conventions attended by more than 50 persons unless such conventions are given special permits because of their importance to the war effort. The measure was aimed primarily at lightening railroad traffic.

Joseph E. Mears, vice president of the Philadelphia Hotel Association, described the ban as a "godsend" because "now we can better accomodate travelers on essential war business."

Hotel officials in New Orleans welcomed the ban because "we'll turn down only a few hundred people daily instead of a thousand."

A Statler company spokesman said convention cancellations were "very large" in Boston, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis and Pittsburgh. Spokesmen in Chicago said conventions scheduled there this week would be held as scheduled.

Yanks Thrust Deeper Into Germany

Soldier Will Spend Furlough in Mines

Westland, Feb. 1—(AP)—S/Sgt. George Vincent, a former coal miner now home on furlough after 26 months overseas, is going back to the mines "to relieve the coal shortage."

The 25-year-old turret gunner who recently completed 21 missions in the South Pacific says he intends to spend 14 days of his furlough mining needed coal.

"It's harder than flying," he said, "and I'm better fixed financially than ever before. This is to relieve the coal shortage."

Effort Made To Delay Vote on Nomination

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—The administration defeated all-out foes of Henry Wallace today by forcing a delay in senate consideration of his cabinet nomination.

Through the delay, which may extend into weeks, Wallace backers hoped to win ultimate confirmation of the former vice president by stripping the commerce department of its huge lending agencies.

Beating down on a 43 to 41 vote an attempt by Senator Bailey (D-NC) to force immediate consideration of the appointment, the senate leadership obtained right of way for the George bill. This is the measure designed to set up the RFC and other lending agencies as a separate administration.

The vote on the Bailey motion at first was a 42 to 42 tie, but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) changed his vote to "no" in a futile attempt to force reconsideration in the hope the Wallace foes could summon additional senators. A tie vote defeats a motion such as Bailey made.

Vice President Truman, presiding, ruled Taft out of order when Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky complained that he had not yielded the floor.

Barkley then moved to bring up the biyy by Senator George (D-Ga.)

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—The administration won a slender victory in the fight to salvage a cabinet post for Henry Wallace today when the senate voted 43 to 41 to delay action on the nomination.

The original vote on the Bailey motion was a tie, 42 to 42, but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) changed his vote in order to be able to move reconsideration of the motion of Senator Bailey (D-NC) to put the senate in executive session to consider the nomination immediately.

The senate immediately began voting on the question of recon-

CORRECTION MADE ON A. W. O. L. ABROAD

Paris, Feb. 1—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, U. S. Provost marshal said today that 8,000 American soldiers are abent without leage in the European theatre—not 18,000 as reported last week in a statement credited to his office.

Reckford said the 18,000 total, which was published in the army newspaper Stars and Stripes Jan. 26, probably had been computed by adding the approximately 600 new AWOL cases reported daily and not taking into account those who returned to duty each day.

Surplus Property Sales Investigated

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—Senators investigating the surplus property sales of Jacob (The Finder) Goldberg sought to develop today the extent of his contacts in government circles.

Testimony already in the record discloses he got a contract from the Defense Plant Corporation to conduct two auctions despite his alleged attempt to "buy the influence" of a $5,600 DPC engineer with an offer of a $20,000 job.

It came yesterday from John VanGinhoven, acting engineer in charge of DPC surplus property in the Nashville, Tenn., district.

Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York, whose complaint against Goldberg, veteran finder and auctioneer of distressed properties, led to the investigation, was called in today to tell his story.

VanGinhoven testified that Goldberg offered him a job at a meeting in a hotel room in Cleveland, O., last August 9.

U.S. WARSHIPS APPROACHING CORREGIDOR

Tokyo Broadcasts Report Cruising of American Shipping in Bataan Peninsula

SUBIC BAY OCCUPIED

By the Associated Press

American warships are nearing Corregidor while others in Subic bay are shelling northwestern Bataan peninsula in the Philippines, unconfirmed Tokyo radio broadcasts reported today.

"The enemy is sending warships to the vicinity of Corregidor island," one broadcast said, "From Corregidor (at the entrance of Manila bay); cruising of American shipping in the adjacent waters is reported."

A Domei news agency dispatch said "more than ten battleships, cruisers, destroyers and several other unidentified ships" had steamed into Subic bay, which Gen. Douglas MacArthur earlier announced was again being converted into an American naval station.

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Feb. 1—(AP)—Subic bay and its naval repair base of Olongapo, dotted with pillboxes but inexplicably abandoned by the Japanese, were back in American hands today as unblunted Yank spearheads to the east rolled clear of a dangerous bottleneck passage only 28 road miles from Manila.

Well-fortified Grande Island, the "little Corregidor" guarding the entrance to Subic bay, was taken without opposition Tuesday by Eighth Army troops. Units of the U. S. Seventh Fleet then steamed into Subic Bay.

Other elements of Lt. Gen. Robert Eichelberger's Eighth Army moved by road along the inner rim of Subic Bay to capture the Olongapo naval base which, before the war, was an American depot.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in his communique today that "we are now using this excellent anchorage, and development of a naval base is already under way."

Failure of the Japanese to put up a fight in this natural defense zone was as puzzling as the enemy's lack of opposition at Subic Bay.

The Americans crossed the Pampanga river just north of Calumpit to swing free of the swampy corridor and aim down the straight Manila highway. They were approaching Malolos, 22 road miles from Manila.

Another Railroad Embargo Planned

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—Another embargo on civilian railroad freight has been decided upon.

One official said the only questions remaining to be decided are the time and the territory it will embrace. It is regarded likely that the period will be for three days, probably beginning at midnight Saturday.

A similar embargo in effect last weekend included all parts of ten states east and south of the Great Lakes, and the District of Columbia.

Officials of the Office of Defense Transportation conferred today with the association of American Railroads to determine the area to be affected, along with the exact time of its application.

SUPERFORT SORTIES OVER JAPAN REPORTED

By the Associated Press

Unconfirmed Tokyo broadcasts today reported three single Superfortress sorties over the home islands of Japan last night.

The broadcasts, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, monotonously claimed all bombs fell in forests or paddy fields.

The B-29's were reported over Shikoku island, lying between oft bombed Honshu and Kyushu islands, and the east coast of Honshu, the main island of Nippon.

SAILOR ASPHYXIATED

Philadelphia, Feb. 1 — (AP)—Machinist's Mate 1/C Francis A. Spell, 22, Charleston, S. C., was asphyxiated accidentally today and his wife, Geraldine, 19, overcome at the home of Spell's aunt, Mrs. William A. Evans of suburban Drexel Hill. Mrs. Evans said she found a gas burner turned on, but the flames extinguished. Spell was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital, but his wife was revived.

513 Men of Corregidor, Singapore and Bataan Are Rescued From Jap Prison Camp

By C. YATES McDANIEL

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Jan. 31.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Men of Bataan, Corregidor and Singapore—513 of them—were snatched from under the flaming muzzles of Japanese guns last night in an exploit of unmatched daring.

Some 400 picked men of the Sixth Ranger Battalion and Filipino guerrillas made a commando raid 25 miles behind Japanese lines to empty a prison camp and partially fulfill one of the Philippines objectives closest to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's heart.

They took Japanese guards by surprise and rescued 486 Americans, 23 British, three Netherlanders and one Norwegian—all that were left in the prison camp in Nueva Ecija province of eastern Luzon.

Many more hundreds of more able-bodied war prisoners had been sent to work camps in Japan. Hundreds of others had died.

All but two of the men were brought out alive by the 121 men of the Sixth Ranger Battalion who stormed into the prison stockade under command of Lt. Col. Henry Mucci of Bridgeport, Conn.

The Rangers attacked with such merciless precision that not one of the Japanese stockade guards was left alive or able to resist. And they attacked with such care that not one of the prisoners was scratched.

Within a matter of minutes all had been released and were on their 25 miles journey to freedom, walking, carried on backs of husky Rangers or riding in carabao carts.

Nearly 100 were so weak from malnutrition, disease and three-year-old wounds that they could not walk when they were cut loose from Japanese bondage.

The rescue cost the lives of 27 Rangers and Filipinos in a guerrilla unit led by Maj. Robert Lapham of Davenport, Ia., who fought off a savage tank-led Japanese attack along the escape corridor.

The raiders killed 523 Japanese—more than one for every prisoner released—and knocked out 12 enemy tanks.

This first mass liberation of Allied prisoners of war in the western Pacific was accomplished by an all-night forced march east of the American lines to Cabu.

The commando raid, ordered on short notice when intelligency reports disclosed the whereabouts of the camp, was such a success that General MacArthur decorated every man in the force.

The lean and rugged captives received the homage of thousands of American soldiers now fighting to redeem the islands for which the veterans fought so valiantly and hopelessly. The youthful GI's formed an impromptu honor guard, flanking a military highway down which the rescue party passed after it returned to American lines.

It was the last of many marches for the rescued men—marches which began with the brutal "Death March of Bataan."

The freed men showed their happiness, despite their sores and ulcers, wasted bodies and ragged clothes.

Some looked helplessly up from litters. Others were proudly erect. There were old men with grey hair and dazed, sunken eyes. Some were surprisingly young and almost at their normal weight. Others were limp from beri-beri.

Their shirts were tattered. Shorts were patched and repatched. Several officers still proudly wore their emblem of rank. There were battered campaign hats, overseas caps and one pre-war type helmet.

Country Lanterns In Display Windows

Key Measure To Cut Taxes Is Advanced

Harrisburg, Feb. 1—(AP)—A key administration measure to help local government reduce real estate taxes was ready today for prompt enactment in the general assembly.

A bill to re-enact the emergency one-cent tax on gasoline permanently and turn the $22,500,000 collected biennially into the motor fund was reported favorably by the house ways and means committee and will be on the calendar when lawmakers return next week.

Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, house majority leader, said a companion bill to allocate money raised by the levy for municipalities to finance highway work is being drafted by the joint state government commission.

Also readied for floor action were other tax bills calling for re-enactment for another two years of emergency levies on liquor, cigarettes, gross receipts and corporate net income. Martin has estimated these taxes will raise $151,700,000 in the coming biennium.

A bill to permit the revenue secretary, with the governor's approval, to extend the automobile inspection period as much as 60 days was also placed in position for speedy action.

The assembly is adjourned until Monday, February 5.

Maine Officials Probe Home Fire

Auburn, Me., Feb. 1—(AP)—Maine officials began a series of investigations today to determine cause of a fire which snuffed out the lives of 16 children and a nurse in a privately-owned boarding home.

Even as state and local officials met in closed session at police headquarters hundreds of twonsfolk assembled to pay final homage to the first of the children to be buried.

One investigation was launched by Harry O. Page, state commissioner of health aind welfare who said he could not "understand the great loss of life."

Fire officials were unable to explain cause of the blaze after Mrs. Eva Lacoste, the proprietor of the home, retracted her original statement that a coal heatnig stove in the kitchen had exploded.

BURN TO DEATH

Latrobe, Feb. 1—(AP)—Mrs. Jerome Baur, 25, and her five-year-old son, Jerome, Jr., burned to death yesterday in a fire started by matches the boy was playing with in the attic of their home. Mrs. Baur's clothing ignited when she made a futile effort to rescue her son.

Thousands of Workers Idle As Cold Weather Curtails Gas Supplies in Factories

Pittsburgh, Feb. 1—(AP)—Thousands of workers became idle today when continued cold weather made it necessary to curtail gas supplies to all non-essential factories and to many war plants.

The weather bureau said no break in the weather is expected for at least another 48 hours.

All gas companies' curtailments were 100 per cent to non-essential industries. All production gas had been shut off, only gas for necessary maintenance being supplied. The action was taken, they said, to protect domestic users whose needs had shot up rapidly, particularly because coal is hard to get.

The Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. said that if zero weather continues it likely will have to curtail supplies tomorrow to other war customers, including American Steel & Wire Co., The Mesta Machine Co., and four Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. plants.

The gas companies said the curtailment did not necessarily mean the plants affected would all go out of production. Some of them have standby fuel supplies of oil or propane, although they have been seriously depleted by previous gas shortages.

Ice formations in the Monongahelia river today threatened a further shackling of much needed coal shipments to western Pennsylvania's meager coal bins.

The Solid Fuels Administration said barges normally carrying 900 tons of coal had to cut their load as low as 700 tons. One barge shipment, SFA said, required six hours to pass through one upper river lock.

Earlier the SFA reported diverting coal from utilities and railroads to relieve the plight of household consumers.

New Castle, Pa., and Youngstown, O., mayors appealed for increased supplies, the SFA said. New Castle schools have been closed all week.

Additional snow snarled traffic on highways. The automobile club of Pittsburgh advised no travel to Erie to the north and Blairsville to the east. All roads in and out of Erie, except Route 20, are closed, the AAA said. The club said there is one way traffic to Blairs-

3,000 in Uniform Become Citizens

Philadelphia, Feb. 1—(AP)—On lonely Christmas island, a GI solemnly raised his right hand and repeated the oath of citizenship.

On Bougainville 300 soldiers and sailors pledged their loyalty in unison, their voices ringing against a background provided by motors of a flight of bombers leaving an adjoining air strip.

On a battleship, in the jungles near the front on Wadke, huddled in a shelter during an air attack on Saipan . . .

Thus did nearly 3,000 American fighting men become citizens at Pacific battlefronts during a recent 11-month, 50,000 mile trip by Dr. Henry B. Hazard, 64-year old naturalization officer.

Dr. Hazard, professor of political science at American University, Washington, D. C., has traveled nearly 100,000 miles since the second war power act authorized admission of servicemen to citizenship.

EERIE SILENCE COVERS NAZI GUNS ON LINE

Heaviest Enemy Resistance Is Limited to Small Arms And Accurate Mortar Screening

TROOPS ARE AMAZED

BULLETIN

Paris, Feb. 1—(AP)—Shock troops of the First and Ninth divisions penetrated deeply into the central Siegfried line today and erased the last vestige of the bulge driven into the American First Army front before Christmas. Patrols of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army stormed the Siegfried line ramparts in three sectors, encountering opposition ranging from scant to heavy.

By JAMES M. LONG

Paris, Feb. 1—(AP)—Patrols of the fighting First Division broke into the first ramparts of the Siegfried line today 11 miles southeast of Monschau, and found only a flicker of life in Hitler's concrete western fortifications.

The First Army troops crossed the first row of dragon teeth tank barriers in a section of the Siegfried line never before breached.

Farther north, 37 miles of the line have been conquered by the Americans in the Aachen-Roer river sector.

Along a front of 40 miles, the American First and Third armies struck with a vengeance into pillboxes fringing the line, which battlefront dispatches described as strangely quiet—its artillery silent and its resistance mainly from small arms. Great sections of the fortifications were under American artillery fire.

Overnight advances generally reached four miles deeper into Germany. Village after village fell. Patrols entered the fringes of the Siegfried line in the Monschau sector, where a whole three-mile section was captured earlier in the week. Third Army infantrymen seized four more German towns.

An eerie silence covered the big Nazi guns in the lines, but American artillery of both the First and Third Armies laid a barrage on the fortifications along a 40-mile sector opposite Belgium and Luxembourg. The heaviest enemy resistance was limited strictly to small arms and accurate mortar screening. Troops frankly were amazed at the complete lack of artillery and, in most cases, the enemy's reluctance to stand and fight.

The First Army alone captured 1,332 prisoners in the 24 hours to midnight, its largest haul since Jan. 3. That was a commentary on German morale.

The German cross-Rhine hold-

Installations In Singapore Area Bombed

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—Superfortresses bombed Japanese military installations in the Singapore area today for the third time.

A press flash from 20th Air Force headquarters said B-29s of Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramey's 20th Bomber Command struck by daylight from India bases. Details of the mission will be announced when operational reports are received.

In their last attack Jan. 11 on this naval basion at the tip of the Malay peninsula Superforts blasted shipping installations with good results. The first strike was made Nov. 5.

Once called Britain's "Gibraltar of the east," Singapore was seized by the Japanese in 1942 and converted into their principal naval base in the Malay-Netherlands East Indies area. Its huge naval works can repair the largest vessels.

On nearby Penang island the Japanese maintain a big submarine haven. Both Singapore and the Georgetown naval base on Penanfi are key distribution points for supplies and merchant shipping plying the Japan-East Indies sea route.

The round trip flight—largely over water—encompasses more than 3,500 miles.

UNUSUAL FATALITY

Prisoners of War Sentenced to Die

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Five German prisoners of war have been sentenced to death by a court-martial, Newsweek Magazine says, because they beat to death a fellow prisoner they suspected of giving valuable military information to the United States.

Newsweek, in its Feb. 5 issue, declares the men killed a comrade at Camp Tonkawa, Okla., Nov. 5, 1943, and now are awaiting "their doom in a federal penitentiary."

The dead man was identified as Cpl. Johann Kunze. The five men all non-commissioned officers, were identified as Walther Beyer, Berthold Seidel, Hans Demme, Willi Scholz and Hans Schomer.

Quick Shift of Troops From Europe to Pacific is Planned

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—Prospects of a speedier end of the Japanese war developed today with disclosure of a plan for a quick shift of troops from Europe to the Pacific, once Germany is defeated.

Under this system, which was described by high sources, troops in Europe will leave the bulk of their equipment on the continent and then re-arm in the Pacific with equipment piled up there from this country.

This could mean a saving of months in throwing the full weight of American forces against the Japanese. The campaign against the malready has been described by War Secretary Stimson as ahead of schedule.

The plan will add to war costs, require a continuation of a high rate of production and postpone the day of reconversion.

On the other hand, it was pointed out that it would mean the saving of perhaps thousands of lives that might otherwise be lost in a prolonged campaign.

Two other factors undoubtedly figured in the adoption of the plan: 1. Scarcity of shipping to handle the tons and tons of equipment, and 2, the war against Japan is moving along months ahead of schedule, while the European war is lagging, narrowing the time available to shift European forces to achieve the greatest benefit from their use in the Pacific.

Problems of Placing Soldiers At Work Again Discussed

One of the most interesting and important discussions relative to the problem of placing men returned from the war in industry was held last evening at the YWCA. The affair had been arranged by the Warren County Personnel Association and there were about 100 persons in attendance representing the industrial life of the community. While the dining was under way a stringed ensemble composed of Evelyn Wolstencroft, piano; Mrs. Helen Eckhart Olson, violin, and Eleanor Sandblade, cello, played some delightful music. The Rev. Harold Warren of the First Presbyterian church gave the invocation.

C. Wolstencroft presided and he introduced the speakers, Major Henry Gross, chief of the veterans personnel division of Selective Service; William Ilgenfritz, veterans employment representative, and Mark Walter, director of the Bureau of Rehabilitation. All were from Harrisburg. Following their introduction the men gave some interesting talks descriptive of the work to be done.

Major Gross proved probably the most interesting speaker of the evening and he outlined the differences between the Selective Service acts and work in World War I and World War II. In World War I no provision was made for the man returning home as is carried in the Selective Service Act of 1940. Section eight of the act of 1940 requires that a man be placed in his old job as he is honorably discharged, it must not be a temporary job, he must apply within 90 days and he must be able to fill the job and he is entitled to all the rights and benefits that have accrued during his absence. If he has not had a job when entering the service, a new one must be provided as it is the sense of congress that he be placed at work.

For the veteran who can't get a job, ways and means are open for securing one. He can apply to the Selective Service board. If they cannot help the referral is made to the Harrisburg office and then if his old job is not forthcoming a United States attorney will take up the matter.

He described how the Pennsylvania veterans are all discharged at Fort Dix and when they are out a notice is sent to the state Selective Service board at Harrisburg and another is sent to the local board. A welcome letter is then sent out by the local board and also one from the USES. All agencies know when the man is expected home and have methods set up to aid him.

An inventory is on hand at all times of discharged veterans and if men are so injured or incapacitated they cannot fill old jobs they are trained by the Veterans Service to do forms of work for which they are fitted.

Many details of the methods were given by the speaker.

William Ilgenfritz followed and outlined the work to be done by the USES of which there are 92 offices in the state all fully staffed with one trained especially for veterans placement. In Warren this is Sylvenus Davis, who has had much instruction in the work and is thoroughly conversant with it. The USES is endeavoring to aid employers and also provide help for the veterans. He pointed out that there will be a big percentage of the returning men suffering from physical handicaps. A big price is being paid for victory, much more than the uninformed person knows, and it is estimated that 50% of all returned men will be suffering from some handicap.

He also put across the idea that locally a committee must be formed to assist in the work as in the last analysis the problem is up to the home folk. He appealed strongly for all to assist in the work, as while the USES has plenty of tools to do their job and are trying to do a good job, they cannot be 100% efficient.

Mr. Walter followed and in a brief manner summed up what the Veterans Rehabilitation can do for the veterans as about 50% will be suffering from a mental condition due to the strain of the war and life on the fighting fronts. They must be aided. Others must be fitted with glasses, braces and other equipment. Industry and the schools of the land must awaken as one out of every six men will have a physical handicap that must be overcome by training. He gave an insight into the methods to be used in aiding men to get schools, homes, businesses, etc., and become independent and self supporting.

The discussions were followed by a question and answer period and for over one and one-half hours the men fired questions which were all answered, and in a clear manner.

A vote of thanks for the aid of the Times-Mirror in giving publicity to the meeting was given and it was also suggested that a local committee to act in an advisory capacity be formed to assist the veterans who return to this county.

Cars Crash on Slippery St.; Damage Slight

Police investigated the crash of two cars on Pennsylvania avenue near the Everts Hardware Store last evening at 7 o'clock. A car driven by Mildred T. Jaynes, 312 Chestnut street going west on Pennsylvania avenue skidded out of a rut and smashed into the rear wheel of a Ford truck of the Falconer Plate Glass Company, driven by Herbert N. Peterson, Falconer, N. Y. Damage of $20 was done to the Jaynes car.

At 8:56 another crash took place at the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and Second street when a truck driven by Joseph Guiffre, 900 Fourth avenue struck a Buick Sedan driven by A. G. Schwartz RD 1, Oil City. Damage of $45 was done to the Schwartz car.

Sport Club Celebrated Anniversary

The Fairchilds Sportsmens Club held its first quarterly Tureen Birthday Dinner January 30 at 7:00 p. m. at the home of Raymond Yeagle in Pleasant Township.

The introduction of new members was conducted by the president Jack Rapp.

After all were seated at the bountiful tables, a short summary of the club's coming activities was given by Jack Rapp. Also a short summary of possible activities that will add to the interest and membership of the club was given by Earl Strom.

After the dinner a series of movies was presented by Jay Pees through the courtesy of the Department of Forests and Waters. The remainder of the evening was spent at cards, and other games.

All left for home at a late hour declaring it a huge success.

Extend Time For Campaign Into February

Althea N. Correll, chairman for the Warren County March of Dimes campaign for this year, announces she has received word that owing to unusual weather conditions the nationwide appeal has been extended to February 15 by the national chairman, Basil O'Connor.

Warren county's present figure stands at $1,600, still a long way from the quota of $3,500 which officials estimate will be needed to cover the 1944 expenses and have something left for any emergencies that may arise in 1945.

This amount is exclusive of theatre collections, according to Mrs. Correll, and these are proving very gratifying.

Some rural communities have not yet completed their solicitations and it is hoped that with the extension in time and the special gifts donors not yet heard from, the local quota may still be reached.

Launching Our 'Yankee Doodle' Robomb

Launching of the new American robomb, adapted from the German V-1: Top, the bomb at the foot of its launching ramp, smoke swooshing as it is about to start the run; middle, it soars in flight, and smoke begins to pour from the bomb's motor, set above the bomb itself; lower, the launching carriage drops off automatically as the bomb's motor takes hold. Two Million Dollar Schedule Of Improvements at Warren State Hospital Is Outlined

Governor Edward Martin and Miss S. M. O'Hara, secretary of Welfare have both during the past few months evinced a realization of the needs of the mental institutions of the state. Gov. Martin in his burget sets forth $15,000,000 or enlarging and rehabilitation of the hospitals. Gov. George Earle during his administration took some forward steps in caring for the needs of the wards of the state and made a start on a real building program under a State Authority. That Authority will be folded up soon as its bond issues paid off. Under it the Warren State Hospital received some needed enlargements and improvements. Only one-half of the Earle program for Warren was ever carried out.

Gov. Martin and Miss O'Hara have asked that all institutions made their needs known as the State is seeking to be in position to care for service men who may need hospitalization for shell shock and nervous diseases. To that end Superintendent Israel, of the Warren State Hospital has prepared a program of the most pressing needs of the institution to cover a period of years. He has forwarded this list to Harrisburg and a copy of it was secured from there for publication. It is hoped that the program can be carried out as the institution is badly over crowded and the need for additional land and buildings is imperative.

In the proposed program several buildings are contemplated which would add 400 beds to the use of patients during the first year on an admission building where cases could be studied before being assigned to various portions of the hospital for treatment. An addition to the Guth building adding 50 beds is also recommended. An affiliate nurses building with 100 beds is also contemplated. The program for the first year would add additional farm land which is badly needed tand see a bridge built across the Conewango creek to make the farm lands more accessable. The cost of the first years program would amount to $1,967,900.

The second years program would see several buildings remodeled, elevators installed and other changes made. In this it is also purposed to move the piggery from the rear of the hospital to the east side of the Conewango and enlarge it. A new milk house and pasteurizing plant, a canning plant, installing a refrigerating plant and other projects relating to the farm and its production are also on the program. This program would amount to $496,000.

The next years program would see the construction of two annex buildings, one for men and one for women, each with a capacity of 250 beds and a building for married couples with 50 beds. This program is scheduled for 1949 and would cost $885,000. The last program set for 1953 would also be an extensive one for alterations and would cost $270,000.

Broken down into the various items as suggested by Dr. Israel the program for the various years would be as follows:

$200,000—Rewiring Center, 4 Annexes, Infirmary, Hygeia, Mason Hall and Convalescent. Change in water lines. Change in sewage system, (Enlarging sprinkling, filter and sludge beds, provide disposal of sanitary waste, fencing sewage treatment area.

National Forest Timber Cut In 1944 Highest On Record

Timber production for war and essential civilian needs from national forests in 1944 totaled 3,300,000,000 board feet, the largest cut on record since the founding of the Forest Service 40 years ago, Lyle F. Watts, Chief of the Forest Service, said in his annual report (released Jan. 21) to the Secretary of Agriculture, a release from the Warren office states.

Timber from federal forests valued at $14,300,000 supplied approximately 10 percent of all lumber cut in the United States. The production increase was 64 percent over the previous fiscal year. The unusual, wartime demand for national-forest timber was attributed by Mr. Watts to a cumulative shortage of timber on private lands. He warned against possible "local pressures," particularly in thepost-war period, to exceed sustained-yield cutting budgets in the future on public forest lands and added: "There must be no yielding to such pressures."

He expressed concern over "wholesale liquidation of the young timber which should be the source of sawlogs for decades to come" and said the practice is prevalent on privately owned forest lands in the Northeast, South and the Lake States, and is becoming apparent in California and the Northwest where recent analyses show a rapid exhaustion of virgin timber supplies.

The course of forest exploitation in this country shows that the public must act in a far more comprehensive manner than heretofore to stop destructive cutting, to facilitate good practices on private forest lands and to acquire such lands as may not otherwise be given the management dictated by the public interest, Mr. Watts said.

His report lists varied contributions made to the war by the Forest Service. In connection with post-war projects, he said, "home building may easily rise to 900,000 new units per year in the five post-war years"—a construction boom that alone would require 8,000,000,000 board feet of lumber annually. He warned against "unwise attempts in post-war adjustment to colonize for agricultural use lands that are primarily suited for forestry," as was the case after the last war.

Among the effective wartime accomplishments of the Forest Service described in the report were several technological developments from the Forest Production Laboratory at Madison, Wis., where facilities have been devoted almost exclusively to Army, Navy and war industries on a three-shift btsis; stimulation and increase of output by 20,000 small sawmills through the Timber Production War Project; and surveys conducted on behalf of several Federal agencies to determine national lumber production, retail lumber stocks, and anticipated production and consumption of forest products for 1944 and 1945.

From the Forest Products Laboratory, Mr. Watts cited work done on the development of industrial alcohol from wood waste; improvement of physical characteristics of wood by chemical treatment known as acetylation which reduces shrinkage and swelling; development of "staypak," a form of compressed wood of high density and strength now being studied for possible use in making propellers; and research on container and packaging problems which has resulted in saving cargo space to the extent that four ships now carry the material that formerly required five ships.

In spite of adverse factors, including the loss of key leaders in fire control to the armed forces, and the fact that nearly 3,000 more fires occurred, the Forest Service chief reported an improved fire record on State and private lands. His report showed 3,860,143 acres burned over and $9,283,762 damage from 78,815 fires on protected areas. The previous year 75,849 fires burned over 3,862,736 acres and damage was estimated at $9,965,557. On national-forest lands 11,829 fires were reported and 234,323 acres were burned over. Mr. Watts gave special credit to the armed forces for cooperation in fighting forest fires.

The Chief Forester called attention to the urgent need of extending fire protection to 131,000,000 acres of unprotected State and private forest lands but said enactment during the year of legislation increasing the authorization for cooperative fire protection from $2,500,000 to $9,000,000 a year, should open the way for protection o fthese lands.

Because of growing interest in the commercial development of Alaska's forests, the Forest Service chief called for a program of research in the Territory to provide a sound foundation for the utilization and management of Alaskan forest resources. "Mistakes made in the pioneer exploitation of the forests of the United States must not be repeated in Alaska," he said.

In anticipation of the possible development of a permanent pulp and paper industry in Alaska, the Forest Service has invited inspection of a large tract of timber in the southern Tongass National Forest. A tentative draft of conditions under which the timber might be offered for sale was prepared, with the requirement that the timber be manufactured in Alaska to foster continuous employment and permanent industrial communities.

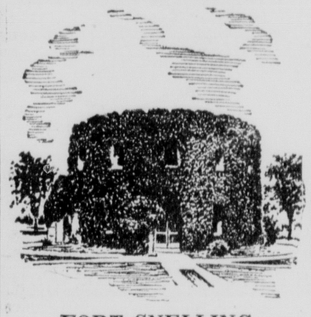

The report calls attention to a 25 percent increase in receipts from livestock grazing on range lanrs within national forests and emphasized the continued success in avoiding over-tocking which proved so disastrous in the first World War Range improvements, re-seeding and rodent control, together with better care and animal husbandry, are paying dividends, although much still remains to be done in this field.

Discussing the opposition to a long-proposed Forest Service program which includes public regulation of forest lands as a means of assuring adequate timber supplies for the future, Mr. Watts said the forest products industries in the last year "have continued a campaign of publicity tending to mislead the people on the seriousness of the forest situation," and that the intensity of the campaign against the Forest Service objectives shows "strong indications that public sentiment for regulation is spreading . . . This trend in public thinking is feared by those whose purposes or philosiphy are in conflict."

In every annual report of the Forest Service since 1937 chief foresters have advocated (1) regulation of cutting practices on privately owned forest lands; (2) increased acquisition of forest lands unsuitable for private operation, and (3) expanded public aids to private forest-land owners.

Bonds Over America

FORT SNELLING

In buying War Bonds today, Americans support armies with traditions for fighting and fairness like those that Fort Snelling, Minn., produced. French and English trappers and traders bought the land it stands on in 1805 from the Sioux for 60 gallons of whisky. Lt. Col. Henry Leavenworth established an Army post there in 1819 and a year later Col. Josiah Snelling began construction of permanent Fort St. Anthony on the bluff overlooking the Minnesota and Mississippi Rivers. The name was changed in 1825 to Fort Snelling. There Major Lawrence Taliaferro became known to the Indians as "Four Hearts" as a result of his 20 years service supervising fur trades, issuing licenses and keeping relations peaceful between the Sioux and Chippewas.

To Get Army?

Possible activation of a new U. S. army on the Western Front is seen in General Eisenhower's recommendation that Maj.-Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, above, commander of the 5th Corps, be elevated to the rank of lieutenant general. The promotion, now before Congress, would rank General Gerow with commanders of U. S. field armies.

Chapter 1

MIKE O'SHANE swore softly as the sweat-streaked pony beneath him stumbled. Swiftly, he kicked free of the oxbow stirrups and slid clear as the paint crashed in a flurry of dust.

"Guess you're through, Spot, but you got sand, aplenty," he growled regretfully.

Sun-scorched features tense, O'Shane swept the back trail. Slowly his pugnacious jaw relaxed and his freckled features crinkled into a relieved grin as he searched in vain for the dust clouds that had stubbornly ballooned in his wake for ten relentless hours.

From ahead, faint but distinct through the clear desert air, came the sharp crack of a Winchester. A second, a third shot followed.

Instantly, O'Shane's stocky form galvanized into alert watchfulness. His wary eyes glimpsed two faint dust clouds, drifting lazily in the distance. "Two hombres, riding hell for leather," he muttered.

For a mile he plodded ahead, tensed and vigilant, angled around a clump of buckthorn, and jerked to a quick stop. Close ahead, stood a riderless roan pony, ground hitched.

Hand upon the butt of his gun, O'Shane approached warily. A groan reached his ears. His gaze darted down to the body of a man half hidden in the stage.

He sank on his knees beside the still figure. Young, figured O'Shane, not much more than his own age. Blood seeped slowly from two bullet holes, one high above the heart, the second dead center.

He pried open the clenched teeth and trickled the water in his canteen down the wounded man's throat.

The stricken man's eyelids quivered, opened.

Unheeding, the Double O foreman abruptly turned away and moved towards the door with long strides.

"Set quiet, amigo," said O'Shane. "You're hit, bad."

"Will—I—check—out?" came in a labored croak.

"No sense in fooling you, pard," returned O'Shane, "I guess you're through."

"How long I got?" he asked.

O'SHANE shrugged. "I'm no sawbones. Mebbe two—three hours. You know this country?"

"Born—here."

"Any town I could tote you to and get a doc?"

"Big River's the—nearest—ten miles west."

O'Shane shook his head slowly. "You'd never make it, pard."

"Gun fight?" O'Shane presently inquired.

"Bushwhacked! I never—got a peep—at the coyote who—plugged me."

"Two," corrected O'Shane, "I saw their dust. What they got against you?"

"Nothing—haven't been around—since I was—knee high."

"Mighty curious!"

"You said it!" mumbled the other, his husky voice gaining strength in its bitterness. "I been a tumbleweed since I was a button. Now my sis, leastways my step-sis, writes and says Paw's dead, leaving the spread in Piute Valley to the pair of us."

"Too bad!" soothed O'Shane. "Guess you kinda looked forward to seeing your sis again."

"Never did see her. Maw died when I was foaled. Paw didn't cotton to me atall. His sister raised me in Abilene."

A TREMOR shook the form of the wounded man, his jaw slowly dropped, and he was dead.

O'Shane straightened, stretched his cramped limbs. "Doggonit!" he muttered, eyeing the still figure. "I could play the hand. He's stocky built, like me, no scars, red hair."

Going through Curran's papers, he found a letter.

He unfolded four pages of slanted feminine handwriting, signed "Joan." His lips parted in an ironical smile as he read.

"It's a cinch. She's in a jam, never seen him, don' know nothing about him . . . and I sure need a hideout."

THE silent stars illumined the heavens when a rider with rusty-red hair ambled down the main street of Big River.

Across the front of a dilapidated wooden structure O'Shane saw a faded sign, "Fowler's Livery Barn."

ter and the hum of conversation issued from a saloon. A huge wagon wheel ornamented its facade.

O'Shane kicked back the batwings and stepped inside.

"Slug o' redeye!" said O'Shane curtly, reaching the bar.

"Hotter 'n hell!" remarked the barkeep conversationally.

O'Shane grinned, then his eyes, focused upon the reflection of a tall rider pushing through the batwings, narrowed.

There was something wolflike about the newcomer. His face, like his frame, was long and bony, with high cheekbones. Lank black hair curled in disorder from beneath his grey Stetson. The copper hue of his parchmentlike skin bespoke Indian blood. A scar showed blue upon his right cheek.

"Who's that jasper?" asked O'Shane softly.

"Jules Fleeson, foreman of the Double O."

Glimpsing O'Shane's questioning eyes in the mirror, he swung round and surveyed the redhead with dark eyes that smouldered in deep pits.

"Ain't we met somewhere?"

"Nope!" returned O'Shane shortly.

"Coulda sworn I'd seen your map before." He poured a short drink and downed it.

"Want a job?"

"Forty and found?" There was faint derision in the redhead's voice.

"Nope, this ain't nursing cows."

"Who's hiring?"

"The Double O."

Devilment danced in the redhead's blue eyes. "You ain't asked who I am."

"Wal, who are you?" demanded Fleeson carelessly, glass in hand.

"Tom Curran. Guess I'll do the hiring from now on."

The glass slipped through Fleeson's fingers and smashed to fragments on the floor. His dark features were unmoved, but O'Shane saw amazement, doubt, incredulity, register in the depths of his somber eyes.

"Reckon I'll ride out—" began the redhead, but, unheeding, the Double O foreman abruptly turned away and moved towards the door with long strides.

KEEPING TRADITION

The men of old I Company, scattered as they have been by wholesale transfers to many World War Two fronts, nevertheless are writing a magnificent record of combat heroism in this global struggle against the Axis.

The gallant performance of the outfit, with perhaps many from Warren county still in its ranks, as it fought with the 28th Division against the von Rundstedt counter-offensive in Luxembourg, which headlined the record at that time, and now, as yesterday's dispatches stated, with the U. S. Third, fighting under French command, wedged within a half mile of the northeast outskirts of Colmar, home of the designer of the Statue of Liberty, is writing a notable record of military achievement.

But it must not be forgotten that those local men still with the 28th, now known as the "Bloody Bucket" Division, fought with valor across Normandy and Belgium. Nor should it be forgotten that many of the men who left here almost four years ago for training have been fighting the Nazis and Japs on other fronts—in Italy and southern France and in a half-dozen sectors of the Pacific theatre.

Their participation in this struggle to beat the Fascist enemies has been an inevitably costly one, with records necessarily incomplete.

They, with scores of other comrades from Warren county homes, have paid the price of the American complacency and carelessness which followed the sacrifices of their fathers who went to France 25 years ago to fight the "war to end all wars."

Our humble tribute to those I Company men who paid the supreme sacrifice in this war. Our salute, as well, to a gallant fighting outfit and to the courageous men it trained and sent into other units of Uncle Sam's army.

PRACTICAL RETRIBUTION

The recapture of Clark Field on Luzon, like the recapture of Guam, brought a dramatic climax of retribution to our steady advance in the Pacific war. It avenged in part the savage, stealthy Jap attack of December 18, 1941, which destroyed planes and pilots and helped to hasten the fall of Manila.

But the field's recapture is of practical as well as dramatic value. It provides a springboard for air operations which will seal the Japs' fate in Manila. And with Manila retaken, one of our great supply and repair problems will be solved.

Thus far our Pacific supply problem has been complicated by some ships which had no equipment for unloading onto lighters offshore. For that reason it was necessary to send them to Hawaii or Australia and there transfer cargo to other vessels.

With Manila Bay's deep water and port facilities, many miles and much labor will be saved. And, of course, it will also give us an invaluable base for naval operations against the China coast and Japanese islands. Now with a bomber base almost in Manila's outskirts, the prize is within reach.

It should not be necessary to remind music lovers that the mid-winter concert to be given by the High School band is to be played this evening at Beaty building, and not tomorrow night as was inadvertently stated in Wednesday's issue. The program is one that will provide varied entertainment for lovers of band music. It is a foregone conclusion that a capacity audience will be present.

This is an important date in the life of Charley Conarro, who rounds out 64 years with the First National Bank. That's a long time to be doing business with the public, but Charley's smile is just as infectious today as it was on that blustery February 1st, 1881, when he entered the employ of the bank. Our congratulations to Mr. Conarro, the bank and the community which he has served so long and faithfull.

Anyhow, this year the actions of the groundhog will not have to be suppressed as a military secret.

By the way, are you keeping those letters going to the men and women in the service?

Around It Goes, Where It Stops Nobody Knows

Part-Time MOTHER

AP Newsfeatures

by DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

YESTERDAY: Penny, rushed to the hospital by Trudy, her mother-in-law, gives birth to a boy. She feels bitter that her husband, Jim, had not stood by during her hour of need. But caring for her baby in the hospital turns out to be sheer joy. She submerges all her feelings in the child. But when the baby is home, and turned over to Trudy, she is amazed at her feeling of resentment. She wants to take care of the child alone. Then a telegram comes for Trudy from Florida and the secret is out. Trudy had refused Miles Winters' proposal of marriage to take care of the baby. Penny and Jim insist that Trudy marry Winters. Penny assures Trudy that she really wants to be a mother to her baby—her career means nothing now.

Chapter 6

THEN she looked at Jim and thought with just a shade of bitterness how different things could have been if she still had the same love for him—and the same trust. Trudy was pulling in her call for Miami at the telephone downstairs. Penny wondered if Miles Winter would ever disappoint Trudy. And how could she be happy with Jim again when she knew how unreliable, how selfish he was?

Jim cleared his throat nervously. Without turning from the window, he asked, "Have you really thought this through, Penny? Do you honestly think you'll be happy, without your work? Rutter's—"

"The baby will have to compensate for a good many things, I guess," she said significantly. She was feeling sorry for herself. She was too young to depend on a baby for happiness. She wanted a husband—and a husband's love. She wanted the feeling of unity that comes from a happy marriage. The feeling that they were going forward together and building a common stronghold against the world. A baby wouldn't be enough—and yet it would have to be.

Jim drew a letter from his pocket. "I've been keeping this for a week, Penny. I hated to give it to you at the hospital."

THE letterhead read, John P. Rutter, Inc. It was for her, addressed to Penny Martin. "It's from Mr. Rutter himself," she murmured. "Listen to this: 'We are more than delighted with the changes you made'." She stopped. "What on earth's the man talking about? I don't know what changes he's referring to." Jim was slowly tearing a pack of cigarettes to shreds. "'We landed the Milady Perfumes account without trouble'," she read on, "'due largely to the effective way you handled my hasty suggestions for the art work. Thank you for your splendid cooperation and come to this office at your convenience to discuss terms.' What's he mean—'hasty suggestions?' I sat there for four hours discussing the work with him. Has he gone crazy, do you think?"

Jim said, "I didn't get around to telling you, I guess. You see, the night you went to the hospital he called up and wanted a whole new layout. I went ahead with it under the circumstance. You don't mind, darling? You were pretty busy at the time."

"That's what you were doing that night—?" Penny was stunned. Then slowly, she began to feel as though a tremendous weight had been lifted from her shoulders and that she could breathe once again.

"Sure. Rutter wanted the stuff right away. They had a conference scheduled with the Milady people for the next morning."

"And they didn't like the work I did?"

"Well—"

"Yes or no, Jim? Please, I have to know!"

"Why—it just didn't . . . Rutter said . . . You see—"

"Of course. I see" Penny tried to laugh at herself She had been regretting a career she didn't have. "They didn't like it. I thought that face thing was pretty bad myself. What a good artist I turned out to be!" she added bitterly.

"Oh, nonsense! Don't let it get you down. You were feeling bum and that affected your work. You can have this Milady contract for the asking. Rutter hasn't any idea that I did the stuff for you. Go on down there and sign up."

AND this, Penny thought, was the man she had accused of not being cooperative. She had been furious—ready to call her entire marriage off and a failure because he hadn't paced hospital floors in the time-honored fashion. He was ready to step aside for her. Of course, the contract was his. She had lost it. She had never thought of failure, and now it was here, somehow she didn't care. All she could think about was the fact that Jim had been unselfish and of his deep love for her.

"Darling," Penny said, "I've been a wretched flop as a partner."

"You have not," Jim argued.

But Penny shook her head. She decided she was going to be the best mother in the world. Here, at hand, was the job she alone could do. She'd try to make of Jim's son, she concluded, as fine a man as Jim was.

"I've been a rotten part-time wife," she told him softly, slipping her hand into his. "But I'm going to be a hundred per cent mother."

JIM kissed her and suddenly she knew without doubt at all that at last she had found the career at which she could not fail. "Get yourself down to Rutter's," she said, "and tell them the truth. Make them sign their shirts away. You've got a wife and son to support now—to say nothing of your mother's wedding expenses. Boy, you need money!"

—THE END—

"Make them sign their shirts away," cried Penny.

Plans Are Launched for Scout Anniversary Week Program

Scout Troops, Cub Packs, and Explorer Posts of the Warren County Council, Boy Scouts of America, are now completing plans for an elaborate celebration of Boy Scout Anniversary week, Feb. 8 to 14, it was learned this morning from Gilbert M. Sanford, Director of the Council's Anniversary week program. Boy Scout week this year marks the 35th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America.

The Council's five-point program for the week is intended to provide a high peak period of interest for boys, their parents and friends, to show the public some of the values and work of the boys, create further interest in Scouting and Cubbing on the parts of parents and other adults in the communities, and to recruit new boys for membership in the various Troops and Cub Packs.

Fifteen Troops and Packs are planning for a Store Window exhibit, in their own neighborhoods. Each of the 41 units of the council has been urged to make a store window exhibit, and it is expected that many of the others will be making the location of their exhibits known at the local Scout office within the next few days. Each window will be observed by a committee of judges appointed by the camping and activities committee of the council and "Citations of Merit" will be awarded those which come up to a high standard, a possible 25 points being scored on each of the following: Attractiveness, Scoutcraft or Cubcraft work, Arrangements and Publicity Value.

Nineteen of the units have already indicated their plans for the Troop or Pack to participate in a Scout Sunday church service in their own churches. The boys will wear their uniforms and be accompanied by their leaders and members of their own Troop or Pack committees.

All Scouts and Cubs are being urged to wear their uniforms during Scout Week. The Troops and Packs are planning to invite new boys and men to their meetings.

Instead of a centralized "get-together program" for all of the Scouts and Cubs, the plan calls for a Father and Sons banquet or a parents night program staged by the leaders of each Troop or Pack, according to Mr. Sanford. At the present time, fourteen such affairs have been recorded at the Scout office.

All of the figures used above are merely a preliminary report, Pnit reports will be coming into the Scout office for the next few days, and a more complete picture of the extent of the Boy Scout Anniversary Week Program will be revealed as the February 8th opening date approaches.

LUDLOW

Ludlow, Jan. 29—The Luther League of Moriah church met on Thursday evening in the church parlors. Miss Edith Larson, vice-president, conducted the meeting which opened with a song followed by Scripture reading and prayer. Annual reports mere made by the president, secretary and treasurer. The annual election of officers followed: President—Robert Johnson, vice-president — David Swanson, secretary—Keith Gilfert, treasurer—Thomas Nelson, financial secretary—Joyce Wallin, pianist—Mrs. Algot Swanson, assistant pianist—Louise Nelson, pocket testament secretary—Edith Larson. It was decided to conduct a World Prayer Day Service on February 21st at 7:30 p. m. Luther League will be held on the fourth Thursday of every month. The following was given: Accordion solo—Mrs. Ed Wenstran, Reading —Mrs. Frank Alling, Vocal Solo—Louise Nelson, Reading — Mrs. John Johnson, Piano Solo—Paul Johnson, Remarks—Rev. Hans Pearson. The following officers were elected: Vice-chairman of Board—Gustav Olson, Secretary of Deacons—Ernest Swanson, Chairman of Trustees—Charles Lantz, Secretary of Trustees—Emil Nelson, Treasurer of Church—Clyde Gilfert, Financial Secretary of Church—John Johnson. It was decided to have a plan and estimate made of Sunday School room repair after which a decision will be made as to work to be done.

COMMUNITY

The Community Exhibit Committee meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Enoch Nelson on Thursday evening with fifteen in attendance. A tentative date was planned for the last week in February. Reports were made by the various chairmen as to progress made. The committee urges every person or family in the community to place something in this exhibit. There will be tables representing various countries particularly interesting to Ludlow, such as Italian, Swedish, Polish, English, German Yugo-Slavia Russian, etc. There will also be a table to contain articles of interest sent home by soldiers from all over the world —and there will be a table to contain old things of interest from Ludlow, elsewhere or of historic interest. Arrangements are being made for protection of valuable articles or of adticles which should not be touched. A short program suitable for the occasion is being prepared and decorations will correspond. A Community Cook Book is also being made which contains recipes from Ludlow people. There is to be no charge for attendance but a collection box will be placed at the door. The exhibit will be worth while and of interest to friends from out-of-town. Details will be given in full near the date of the exhibit.

The Ladies' Aid of the Covenant Mission Church was entertained by Mrs. Emil Erickson at her home on Thursday evening with a god attendance. The meeting was conducted by Mr. Emil Erickson. The following program was given: Reading—Connie Jean Erickson, Reading—Mrs. Ernest Carlson, Vocal Duet—Mrs. Victor Bergquist and Mrs. Gust E. Anderson, Reading—Emil Erickson, Reading—Helen Swanson, Reading—Ernest Carlson. Lunch was served by the hostess.

The Ludlow Bridge Club was entertained by Mrs. Melvin McCleary at her home on Thursday evening at a dessert-bridge. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. E. W. Johnson and Mrs. R. E. Wenstran. Guests were Mrs. Charles Hoover and Mrs. Albert Carlson.

Mrs. John Fox, Jr., the former Marjorie Winkler, was surprised on Friday evening at her home by many friends at a wedding shower at which she was given many lovely gifts. There were forty-two present including three guests

Men and Women In the Service

French Family Represented In Many Types of Services

Mr. and Mrs. William French, formerly of Endeavor and now residing at Saybrook, have been informed that their youngest son, Pfc. Seaward R. French, has been promoted to the grade of corporal and has been awarded the Bronze Star and the Infantryman's Combat Medal.

Cpl. French is known to most of his friends as "SeeDee". He volunteered May 31, 1943, his birthday anniversary, and is now somewhere in France with the 63rd Division Anti-tank corps. He received his basic training at Camp Croft, S. C., later entering cadet unit at Maxwell Field, Ala. After three months there, he suffered a nervous breakdown and was returned to his old outfit at Camp Van Dorn, Miss. He went overseas on November 23, 1944.

Another son of the French's, Sgt. Gale Eugene, who is known as "Gene", enlisted in the Air Corps at Oil City September 13, 1941, and was sent to Wichita Falls, Texas. After several months there, he was transferred to Kelly Field, Texas, where he was a field lighter (electrician) for over two years. He was next sent to Spokane, Wash., in September, 1944, with the engineers, and in October was again transferred to an overseas replacement depot at Kearns, Utah. Going to the Hawaiian Islands, he was sent to Oahu in December, 1944, and since then has twice changed units, going from the engineers to the signal corps and then to a base squadron.

The oldest son of the family, Sgt. Gairld W., enlisted January 26, 1940, and received his training at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C. He was graduated from x-ray school in December, 1940, and transferred to California, where he remained until December 8, 1941. He has since seen duty as a medical attendant in transport in Java, India, Australia, South Africa, North Africa, New Guinea and the Philippines. In all, he has had 28 months of overseas service and January 26 marked his fifth year in service.

Also from the same family is S/Sgt. Eric Erickson, who made his home with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. French, before entering service with his cousin Gairld. He enlisted in January 26, 1940, and was also sent to Walter Reed Hospital. After this medical training, he was transferred to Camp Livingston, La., and went overseas in August, 1943, with the 303rd Station Hospital unit. Going to England, he is sull located there and is head of surgery. A picture sent home recently is evidence he is enjoying good health and his letters indicate he is doing well with his job.

These four boys are all grandsons of Mrs. Ida French, of East Hickory, who has plenty of reason for pride in her four family service stars.

Pvt. Anthony In New Role Of Santa Claus

A special news release from a U. S. troop carrier base in the European Theatre of Operations tells of an interesting action in which the principal figure is Pvt. Leon J. Anthony, whose children, Robert and Shirley, live at Pittsfield.

According to the port, Pvt. Anthony, who is son of Mr. and Mrs. John Anthony, of Greenville RD 3, played the role of Santa Claus this Christmas to by far the most grateful gift recipients in his experience.

Acting as "dropmaster", he participated in aerial re-supply flights flown by troop carrier aircraft to drop ammunition and other vitally needed supplies by parachute to isolated American units near Bostogne, Belgium.

As a result, the advantage the Germans had won by cutting off the troops from their supply lines was nullified and the Americans were able to fight their way to contact with other units, thus stemming the German advance in that sector.

Pvt. Anthony is by no means a beginner in this type of action, having also participated in re-supply missions during the invasions of France and Holland. During the latter invasion, he was forced to parachute to safety when his plane was struck by enemy ground fire. He has been overseas for 14 months.

He has two brothers also in service, S/Sgt. Edward, in the South Pacific, and Donald, in the Navy.

IS IN MIAMI

According to word received here from Miami Beach, Fla., 1st Lt. Floyd C. Peck, 25, of Warren, has arrived at the AAF Predistribution Center No. 2 at that place for reassignment processing after completing a year of duty outside the continental United States. Lt. Peck flew 50 missions as navigator on a B-24 Liberator heavy bomber in the European theatre of operations, for which he was awarded the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters and, for wounds received in combat, the Purple Heart. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Peck, 3 Malvina street.

Word was received by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Abramson, 403 W. Main, Sheffield, that their son Cpl. Everett (Chippy) Abramson is in Luxembourg. He has received seven stars for the battles he has been in. Three of them being Battle of Normandy, Battle Argentan and Liberation of City Chalons, France. "Chippy" has been in service for 22 months, being across 15 months. His uncle, Pvt. Richard Santer, wounded in France June 20 and is now stationed at Crile Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio.

The water allowance in U. S. Army camps is 100 gallons per capita daily.

Talc, the basis for face powder, has important war uses.

Tidioute Man Commended For SKD Duty

Mrs. W. K. McClelland, of Tidioute, has received the following self-explanatory communication from the disbursing officer, Carcier Aircraft Service Unit 66, concerning advancement in rating to storekeeper (disbursing) first class of her son, Daniel W. McClelland, USNR:

"The subject named man was stationed at this activity for 15 months, and, during this period, through his diligent efforts and initative, he has become thoroughly trained in all phases of disbursing.

"For the past year, McClelland has been in charge of the crew accounts of all squadrons at this unit. In handling the squadron accounts, which are extremely difficult and demand the utmost in accuracy, willingness and reliability, McClelland's performance was particularly distinguished.

"McClelland displayed excellent leadership and initiative while with this activity, and he is undoubtedly qualified to perform the duties of a storekeeper (disbursing) first class. He has been a SKD 2/c since 1 February 1944 and he has not been advanced solely because no vacancy has existed in this office's complement of SKD 1/c. His transfer is indeed regretted, except that it may offer opportunities for advancement, which he certainly deserves".

Allen J. Dean Commissioned USNR Ensign

Ensign Allen J. Dean, home on leave after his graduation Janury 23, at the U. S. Naval Training Base at Pensacola, Fla., will leave this week to visit his mother, Mrs. Corinne Dean, now in Chicago, Ill., before reporting to his new assignment in New Orleans, La. He will attend instructors' school at the Naval Air Station there for several months.

Ensign Dean was graduated from Warren High School and attended Cornell University. He enlisted for naval air training June 24, 1942, while employed in New York City, and he was called in May, 1943, to attend naval preparatory schcol at the University of Pennsylvania.

Completing that course, he went to war training school at Lock Haven and then to pre-flight school at Chapel Hill, N. C. His next phase of training was at Glenview, Ill., Naval Air Station, after which he was transferred to the Naval Air Training Base at Pensacola.

He was commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve and designated a naval aviator last week at the NATB at Pensacola, known at the Annapolis of the Air.

APPEARS IN PRINT

Under the title "Winged Victory" Set, a publication currently on the newsstands contains an article interviewing service men on the subject of Hollywood and the following paragraph of interest locally appears therein:

"It's silly to talk in generalities about Hollywood because the place defies you," observed Cpl. Clint Wilder, 24-year-old Warren, Pennsylvania boy, and a modern languages and literature major at Princeton before joining the Air Corps." In the same way, you can't apply big city rules to it because, despite its size, wealth and importance, it's basically a rural town. My first impression was of awe and wonder at the complete casualness and easy lives of the people out here. Later I realized that casualness was a surface thing, probably engendered by a sense of importance. The girls are wonderful party girls—gay, well-dressed playmates—but the inevitable discovery of their lack of depth is depressing. And it's baffling, the way everyone is violently on the defensive lest you do not like the place or find something to criticize".

RADIO SCHOOL

From Sioux Falls Army Air Field in South Dakota comes news that Aviation Cadet Donald W. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Johnson, Warren RD 1, has been assigned to the AAF Training Command radio school at that place for "on the line" training while awaiting shipment to pre-flight school for aviation cadet training. He enlisted in the AAF on March 10, 1944.

Master Sergeant James C. Thompson has returned to the army air base at Florence, S. C., after spending two weeks furlough with his wife and children in Clarendon and with his parents at Wilcox over the past weekend.

Pvt. John J. Shanshala has been raised to the grade of private first class at Selfridge Field, Mich., AAF base, according to word received from there today. Pfc. Shanshala, whose home here is at 20 Locust street, has been in the army since October 15, 1943.

Salem Evangelical Youth Fellowship Plans For Musicale

On Friday evening the Salem Evangelical Youth Fellowship will sponsor a musical tea in the church parlors, with many young Warren musicians participating in the program.

Those scheduled to appear include Virginia Johnson, Beth Smith, Dorothy Bohren and Ruth Kaebnick, piano selections; Ruth Ackert and Melda Olsen, vical numbers; Joyce Smedley, marimba solos; David Leidig, Elizabeth Dunham and Dorothy Bohren, flute solos.

A fine program has been arranged and tickets may be had from any Youth Fellowship member or at the door on Friday evening.

Those serving on committees for the event are: Program, Melda Olsen; dining room, Ruth Kaebnick and Carolynu Huber; luncheon, Mrs. Henry Baldensperger.

The program is scheduled to begin at 8 p. m. and all those taking part are asked to be on hand at 7:30 o'clock.

Personal Paragraphs

Promotions of Mary A. O'Connor, commanding officer, and Esther Potts, recruiting officer at the Erie WAC Recruiting office, to ranks of first lieutenants were celebrated Saturday night at a dinner attended by all personnel of the Erie WAC quarters. Both officers have been coming to Warren on recruiting missions for the last six months and have a host of friends in this section.

Mildred Nollinger, 7 Jackson avenue, left Tuesday morning for Seattle, Wash., to join her husband, Pfc. Ernest A. Nollinger, recently returned to this country after 21 months overseas.

Friends here have learned that S. A. Reed, long-time employe of the Warren Gear Products Company, has been critically ill at the home of his daughter, 385 West 154th street, New York, but is now on the way to a satisfactory recovery.

Miss Laura K. Snyder, 712 Pennsylvania avenue, west, was taken to Warren General Hospital Wednesday after she had fallen down a flight of stairs at her home. X-rays showed her right arm had been fractured and a cast was applied. A laceration on her lip was also treated and she was discharged. It will be recalled that some months ago her sister, Miss Anna, received a bad fracture in a fall downstairs and was in an Erie hospital for several weeks.

CHURCH REVIVALS

AT YOUNGSVILLE FREE METHODIST

The revival meeting now in progress in Youngsville Free Methodist church is reported increasing in interest and attendance. Rev. L. J. Lindsey, evangelist, is able, interesting and forceful speaker, and his messages have proved timely and effective. He preaches each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Free Methodist District rally begins today, ministers and laymen of the district gathering for the services. On Sunday, three services will be held: Sabbath school at 9:15 a. m., Love Feast at 9:45 and preaching at 11. In the afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock, the Young People's Missionary Society will have charge and hold a public missionary meeting, engaging Mrs. Claudia Jacobs, of Ellwood City, as guest speaker. The closing service will be held at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. Rev. Lindsey, who is district superintendent, will have charge of all these services.

Obituary

Unless otherwise stated, visiting hours at Warren's funeral homes are from 10 a. m. to 12; 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

S. R. BONNELL

Samuel Russell Bonnell passed away at his home, 618 Prospect street, at 4 p. m. Wednesday, aged 61 years. He was born in Waterville, Pa., September 27, 1883. He was a member of Grace Methodist church and of Warren Lodge, No. 109, Loyal Order of Moose.

Besides his wife, Gertrude, he leaves three brothers, Norman L. and Roy A., of Warren; Harry, of Jersey Shore.

Services in his membory will be held from the family home at 3 p. m. Saturday, conducted by Rev. Harold Knappenberger and followed by interment in Oakland cemetery.

GEORGE ENGLE

Final rites in memory of George Engle, of Rogers Mills, will be held from the Lutz Funeral Home at 2:30 p. m. Friday, conducted by Rev. S. R. Schieb, pastor of Salem Evangelical church, and followed by interment in Oakland cemetery.

SAMUEL WALTERS

A requiem mass will be celebrated at ten o'clock Friday morning in St. Joseph's church in memory of Samuel Walters, 317 Morrison street, and interment will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery. The parish rosary will be recited at the family home at eight o'clock this evening.

MRS. KATE HALL

Funeral services in memory of Mrs. Kate Hall were held from her home at Russell at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by John A. VanOrsdale. Interment was made in Pine Grove cemetery with Mr. VanOrsdale, Arthur Fehlman, George Wood, Clarence Akeley, Henry Sears, Ernest Stanton acting as bearers. Two hymns, "When the Mists Have Rolled Away" and "Someday He'll Make it Plain," were sung by Bernice Barstow and Barbara Perrigo, with Norine Holt at the piano.

Attending the rites from out of town were Robert Chase, of Warren, and Mrs. Helen Chase, North Warren.

MRS. ALICE D. NEWMAKER

Services in memory of Mrs. Alice Davis Newmaker were held from her home, 3 Conewango Place, at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by the reader from the First Church of Christ, Scientist. Interment was made in Youngsville cemetery with the following acting as bearers: J. B. Leidig, O. J. Groves, Ernest Johnson, Richard Welch, John Knapp and William M. Hill.

Those who came from out of town to attend the rites were Mr. and Mrs. L. Rex Babbitt, Mrs. Hazel Yount, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Welch, Erie; Miss Patricia N. Knapp, Wellesley, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Max Davis, Mrs. Dorothy Baumgardner and Mrs. Alice Streeter, Youngsville.

REV. JOHN PAUL SHELLEY

Erie, Feb. 1—The Rev. John Paul Shelley, 84, a retired Presbyterian minister, who was formerly pastor of the Chestnut Street Presbyterian church, died Wednesday morning in the Presbyterian Hospital and Home, Cambridge Springs, following an extended illness.

He fell in the lobby of the Lawrence Hotel April 1, 1943, and broke his hip, from which he never fully recovered.

Ordained into the ministry in 1886 at Warren, he served as pastor at Warren, Kane, Canastora, N. Y., Woodlawn, Pa., and in Erie.

He is survived by his son, P. C. Cunningham; a brother, Rawley D. Shelley, of Franklin, and several nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the Chester A. Schaal funeral home, 550 West Ninth street, after Thursday noon, and are invited to attend services there at 2 p. m. Saturday. Dr. Ralph C. McAfee will be in charge of the services. Interment will be in Beaver cemetery, Beaver, Pa.

MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

CONBOY SENDS PAPER

Gerald Conboy, former officer of the Warren police force who used to patrol the avenues is now patroling on the Admiralty Islands with Uncle Sams forces. He sent home a copy of the newspaper issued by his outfit. It is a memeograph affair and contains news of the men in the outfit and their doings. Illustrated with drawings, the paper is interesting. Conboy is now rated as a Seaman 1/c, No. 924-09-40, ABCD, U. S. Navy 3205, Hut 21, Care of the Fleet Post office, San Francisco, Colif.

Robert F. Cable, seaman second class, is home on seven-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Cable, 310 Park street, after having completed his boot training at Sampson, N. Y., naval training station.

It will interest friends to know that 1st Lt. John S. Stewart, son of Major and Mrs. Paul B. Stewart, has been transferred from the ASF Regional Hospital at Fort Ord, Calif., to the 308th General Hospital at Fort Lewis, Wash.

Grange News

VALLEY GROUP MEETING TONIGHT

Valley Grange will meet this evening in the hall, when the program will be in the form of a box social, and extends a welcome to all Grangers.

Top photo, showing a Parisian carefully filling a suitcase with his month's supply of coal aroused sympathy for the poor, coalless people of Paris. But folk in Albany, N. Y., are not much better off, judging by lower photo, which shows residents, caught short on fuel due to freight tie-ups, filling paper sacks as they scrape coal dealer's pile to the ground.

Brownout Is Given Preview In Many Places Last Evening

Warren last evening got a preview of the "brown-out" which went into full effect last night. Many store windows were unlighted and only the small lights left burning in the stores were to be seen. One or two merchants had evidently forgotten to turn out their lights and these stores stood out like lighthouses on the darkened streets.

The Penelec yesterday in a large advertisement in The Times-Mirror gave details of rules to be observed in compliance wiht the orders of the government and all should scan that advertisement.

Street lights will not be affected although their intensity may be cut down slightly later. However all display signs must be dimmed out and the big flood lights which have played upon the Times-Mirror office will be casualties of the order.

Everyone is asked to conserve electricity not only in stores and factories but also in homes and useless expenditure of light will be reflected in the use of coal. The larger share of the current used by Penelec in this city is generated at Oil City.

Warren Missed Full Sweep Of Blizzard Hitting This Area

Warren sheltered as it is by hills on all sides yesterday missed the full sweep of the blizzard which hit this area and to the north yesterday. Although there was considerable wind accompanying the one and one-half inch of snow which fell traffic in the city was little interfered with and there was no tie-up or severe tangles.

The highway department met with some difficulty keeping the main highways open outside of the borough due to the formation of drifts and buses were late in getting into the city and trains were running late. Train 581 from the east today was one hour and 55 minutes late and the east bound train from Erie was an hour and 40 minutes late in pulling out of Erie. Bus schedules today are toppling as Buffalo and the Pittsburgh sections are battling snow. In Buffalo many schools are closed and theaters may be closed. The Mayor of the city is setting temperatures for homes and office buildings by proclamation to conserve fuel which is scarce. Erie also has a fuel scarcity and traffic there is again tied up effectually.

There were no morning papers in the city this morning due to the traffic snarls on the highways shutting off traffic of buses and trucks on which the papers are carried.

Merrill Jordan, U. S. Official Observer here announces that during the month of January the snowfall reached 32 inches which was only three inches less than that which fell in December with its record snow storm.

In neighboring Chautauqua county the department of highways appealed to all persons to stay off the highways with their cars due to road conditions, many schools were closed and six children stranded in a school bus near Bemus Point were cared for at homes and their parents notified. Buffalo has many schools closed and Cassadaga schools and the Cattaraugus High School were also closed.

The New York Central railroad is endeavoring to keep its line open but is meeting ill success. Trains are being operated on belated schedules from Titusville to beyond Falconer but the road is unable to get through to Dunkirk.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

The new postal notes were placed on sale at the postoffice this morning. The fee for the note is five cents and are issued in denominations from $1 to $10 and the stamps are in denominations of from one to ten cents and from 10 to 90 cents. There is no limit to the number of notes that may be purchased at any one time.

SHOW FOR KIDDIES

Sunday afternoon at the Marconi Outing Club a special performance will be staged for the kiddies. A good program has been arranged and the little folk will doubtless enjoy a lot of fun with Emmett Kelly, the famous circus clown. All children are invited and the children at the Hoffman Home have been extended an invitation. There will be plenty of fun and a general good time for all little folk who attend.

BEVEVINO LEAVING CLUB

Joe Bevevino who has been handling affairs at the Marconi Outing Club has resigned his position there. Mr. Bevevino has won much success by the booking in the best balanced shows that have ever been seen at the club and his universal courtesy to patrons have won for him much esteem among the 2300 members of the organization. Just who will succeed him has not been announced. He will finish his work Saturday evening and for his farewell presentation has one of the best floor shows to be seen at the club this year. Emanuel, the juggler, has a wonder act, the McNally Sisters with songs and dances please, Danny Ross as master of ceremonies scores and Emmett Kelly, famous clown is teh big hit that he was last week.

Activities of Interest To Next of Kin

A meeting for relatives of prisoners of war has been scheduled at Red Cross Headquarters Tuesday evening, February 13th, at 7:30 o'clock. All persons having relatives listed as prisoners of war or missing in action are cordially invited to attend this session.

American Repatriated Prisoners of War from Germany, and escapeees from Japanese prison camps will address a Next of Kin meeting in Kleinhans Music Hall in Buffalo on Wednesday, February 7th, at 7:30 p. m.

The meeting will undoubtedly be full of interest and information for you. Some of these men have been interned in as many as eight or nine prison camps and various hospital installations.

If you or your friends wish to go, will you call Red Cross Headquarters, before Monday, February 5, 1945. Special arrangements are being made to seat the next of kin by camps.

IRVINE

Irvine, Jan. 30—On Saturday, Jan. 13—Mrs. Harry Johnson and daughter Kathleen left on the morning flyer for Alexandria, Louisiana, to visit their son and brother Richard. They are expected home soon.

Harry Johnson is confined to his home with rheumatism in one knee.

Joseph Tettio Jr., is home on a furlough after his terrible experience of the plane he was in crashing into the ocean. Five were killed and seven saved and he was one of the seven saved after struggling in the water eighteen hours. Some of them had their shoes taken off by the sharks. He lost his watch, fountain pen and all his belongings. It is an experience they will not care to go through again.

On Sunday Jan. 21 the Huckabone family of this place attended a family gathering at Russell City about thirty five miles from here, where William Huckabone's children all went to school. The gathering was in honor of Harry Huckabone who is home on a furlough from Honolulu and another one who is soon to go. There were over 60 present and all enjoyed the day, Harvey Huckabone left last evening to return to Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wing and Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Nulph and son are to attend a birthday dinner this evening in honor of their son and brother Clifford Wing at his home on High street, Youngsville, recently purchased from Percy Kay.

The Oingley family who had the misfortune recently to lose their home by fire are now settled in the Eva Thompson home on Buckaloon street. This was Mrs. Oingley's former home when a child.

Last fall J. J. Myers resigned his position as postmaster here and Mrs. Marion Robertson is the new postmistress and Carl Kennedy has been the assistant as he was with Mr. Myers recently he has resigned and Betty Stewart is now the assistant. She resigned her place at the Sylvania in Warren to accept this and be home with her parents.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

H. J. Rue of the New Process Company who has his habitat at Barnes this week informed that "if Devere Kirberger wants to see some cardinals and bluejays he should come out where they really are." Which led that rival of Baron Maunchausen Ed Bimber to remark that while out at a camp on Scandia he saw a bluejay flying along with a strawberry in his mouth . . . Ah, me that lake which burns with fire and brimstone is waiting for someone . . . Reports from Clarendon wirelessed in say that Postmaster Jim Schmonsky was stepping high on his way to the PO and it wasn't on account of the deep snow either. He had just learned that he was grandpa for the first time . . . Leo King, working in Chicago writes that Merritt L. Johnson, born in Warren is also employed on the same paper . . . Frank Clemons in the hospital since last August due to go home almost any day now . . . Civilians face a cut of 2,300,000 cases of canned fruit and about 16,000,000 cases of canned vegetables during the fiscal year beginning July 1 as a result of sharply increased military requirements. Better lay some plans for a whopping big victory garden . . . Cigarette shortage increasing and even the boys who have been peddling them for three bucks are finding themselves out of luck on getting a supply. . . . George Daum and his chow dog, one and inseparable . . . Handkerchiefs for men are also war casualties. Cotton varities selling to 75c and not too good cotton at that. Well we still have two sleeves . . . A few winters like this one and public demand would see that the borough got a few motor power sidewalk cleaners. . . . Work is progressing so rapidly on the new osteopathic hospital that it should be ready for occupancy within a few weeks. . . . After tomorrow the Old Groundhog will have done his worst, or best. Which will it be? . . . Doc Haines is modest about shooting an arrow so darned far but he says it isn't how long an arrow is, its how you shoot it. . . . Things somehow equalize, the railroad has plenty of cinders and the highway department needs them. . . . Lot of motorists might remember that driving on sidewalks is still against a city ordinance . . .

A report from last week's meeting of the Republican National committee in Indianapolis said that Mrs. Worthington Scranton, of Scranton, Pa., one of Pennsylvania's two members of the National committee, again wore orchids all during the GOP gathering. The orchids have been the point of argument of many Republican leaders, who are of the opinion that ginghams would have attracted more votes than orchids, especially in wartime and depression years. . . Hear that the GOP in this county is not making any changes in its set up to be presented to the voters at the primaries due to war conditions.

C. C. Johnson, senior member of the Youngsville Lumber firm of C. C. Johnson and Son has the first bank book which he received from the Youngsville Savings Bank and the first entries in the book were made April 29, 1895 when as a young man he deposited $10 and opened an account That was back in the days whe nthe banks were looking for folks with $10 to open accounts and no charges were made for checks and other services.

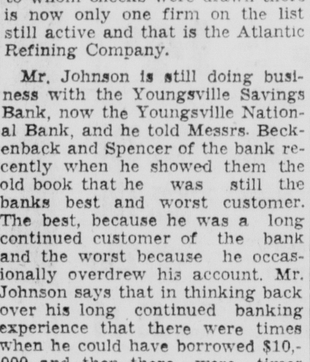

The bank book of 50 years ago shows some difference from one of today and on one side of the page it shows the amount of deposits and on the other the name of the person to whom a check was made out and the amount. The first check in Mr. Johnson's book was made out to Blair and Downey, of Corry. That firm is not in existence and both of the members of the firm are dead. In fact, Mr. Johnson says that 225 firm names to whom checks were drawn there is now only one firm on the list still active and that is the Atlantic Refining Company.

Mr. Johnson is still doing business with the Youngsville Savings Bank, now the Youngsville National Bank, and he told Messrs. Beckenback and Spencer of the bank recently when he showed them the old book that he was still the banks best and worst customer. The best, because he was a long continued customer of the bank and the worst because he occasionally overdrew his account. Mr. Johnson says that in thinking back over his long continued banking experience that there were times when he could have borrowed $10,000 and then there were times when he could not have borrowed 10 cents.

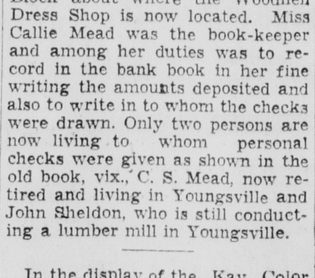

The Youngsville Bank in which Mr. Johnson made his first $10 deposit was located in the Swanson Block about where the Woodnell Dress Shop is now located. Miss Callie Mead was the book-keeper and among her duties was to record in the bank book in her fine writing the amounts deposited and also to write in to whom the checks were drawn. Only two persons are now living to whom personal checks were given as shown in the old book, vix., C. S. Mead, now retired and living in Youngsville and John Sheldon, who is still conducting a lumber mill in Youngsville.

In the display of the Kay Color Shop in the Warren National Bank lobby some exquisite samples of photo coloring are shown. Pretty nice . . . Dave Bairstow says it's heck trying to get enough photo supplies to keep a studio open for business. . . . The ice in the river is just about as thick now as it used to be when folks filled their private ice houses against the days when raspberry shrub would be the favorite drink on hot days. . . . Gosh we remember when our ears were covered with a nice plush cap like Roy Eddy wears . . . The gals with those colored rags on their heads look nice and warm but when you look at their bear legs sticking out of rubber boots you shiver . . . Frank Redding evidently meets with a lot of hard luck in closing real estate deals. Call him up and he says "I'm just closing a deal now. I'll call you you up when I get it closed". And you never hear from Frank. . . . And they do say a New York firm is looking for a store site in this city. On Liberty street . . . Norm Headlund is doing a bit of wire stringing in the Philippines where he is serving with the signal corps . . . Roofing man says we'd better be careful knocking the icicles from off the eves. Might bring down eves and all. Better let nature take its course.

The Boy Scout Dad and Scout Banquet committee met on Monday evening at Scout Headquarters to plan the dinner which will be given on Thursday, February 15 at 6:30 p. m. at the I. O. O. F. hall. Tickets will be distributed to the Scouts by their leader soon. The committee is composed of Clyde Gilfert, Everet Johnson and Enoch Nelson.

SCHOOL

The Press Club of Ludlow High held a meeting on Wednesday afternoon to elect an editor to fill the vacancy made when Carol Carr left for college at the end of the semester. Miss Marjorie Sherwood, a Senior, was elected as editor-in-chief of the Crazy Quilt.

Ludlow Varsity played at Bradford on Friday night with St. Bernards Senior Team with a very close score—St. Bernards 27, and Ludlow, 22. It was a highly exciting game and was played in the gymnasium of St. Bernards. The Ludlow team was accompanied by their coach, John Gaynor, scorekeeper, Thomas Nelson, cheer leader, Helen Howanise and Olga Bobolnick and a few others.

Four High School students have been added to the Moriah Lutheran Church Choir: Robert Johnson, Thomas Nelson, Keith Gilfert and Joyce Wallin. The Junior Choir of the Lutheran church, composed of children selected from the Sunday school, gave the enthem on Sunday at the regular church service. They are directed by Mrs. Emil Nelson.

Miss Carol Carr, daughter of Principal of Schools, Lyell Carr, left last week to become a student at Edinboro State Teachers' College where she is enrolled in the Art course.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Miller and family of Warren were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoover.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brinker of Bradford were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jelmar Mattison.

Miss Susie Krantz returned home a short time ago after having spent three weeks in Minneapolis with relatives.

Miss Audrey McCully of Erie has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Fedorko during the past week.

Mrs. George Olmsted returned to her home on Thursday after having visited luring and since the holidays at the home of Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Lyman Wakefield nd daughter, Anne, of Boston. Major Robert Olmsted of the Army Air Force is also stationed in Boston for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hanson were Saturday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hanson of Warren.

Misses Macie Johnson and Miss Thelma Peiper spent the weekend at their homes in Corry.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Wenstran were Eldred guests on Sunday of last week. Mrs. Wenstran spent several days at the home of her sister, Mrs. Arthur Steiner, while Lieutenant "Bud" and Mrs. Steiner were at home on furlough from Ft. Bragg, N. Carolina.

Misses Mary Catherine Mathers and Miss Katherine Bellucci were weekend guests at their homes in Erie.

Miss Evelyne Swanson of Erie spent the weekend at the home of her mother, Mrs. Freda Swanson.

The total water consumption in U. S. Army camps has been estimated roughly at about that of the state of Michigan.

Landlords Must Register When Renting Property

Landlords putting housing accommodations on the rental market for the first time must register this property with the Area Rent Office within 30 days of first renting, Frank S. Anderson, Director of the Erie and Warren County Defense Rental Areas stated today.

"I make this statement, Anderson said "because we intend to make certain that registration of housing accommodations in this area is 100 per cent. All landlords must hove heir rental properties registered. This is for their own protection, for failure to register subjects a landlord to the penalties provided in the Emergency Price Control Act."

At the same time, the Rent Director advised tenants who move to ask to see the landlord's copy of the registration statement covering the accommodations they have just moved into. This is for the tenant's protection, as the statement shows the maximum legal rent which can be charged for the accommodations.

"Where such a change of occupancy occurs, the landlord is required to file within five days a notice of the change," Anderson added. "This notice, which the rent office will provide, must have on it the new tenant's signature.

Registration of rental property is not an involved process, Anderson explained. The form is in triplicate. The original of the statement remains on file in the rent office. One copy is sent to the landlord, and one copy to the tenant. The area office is ready to give help to any landlord in completing a new registration statement.

SPORT NEWS

Bakers and Sylvania Hope To Upset First Place Quints In City Loop Tonight At YMCA

Behind the Lines

The Irvine National Forge management has announced plans for the 1945 baseball season at Wilder Field. Officials state that all the players who were seen in the '44 season would be on the field, with the exception of Emmy Morrison, probably the finest diamond star in the section, suffered a collapsed lung and will be unable to play. However, he will probably assist in managing the club. You can bet that, if there is no pleasure driving ban, the Forge games will attract the largest crowds ever.

Football prospects at the Youngsville High School for the next season are the best in years, according to Mentor Robert Jewell. Bob expects nine veteran lettermen to be back for competition and hopes to equal, if not better, last year's team.

Elmo Wolfe, who will be remembered as one of the finest athletes in Warren and who is now in service, is home on a furlough from his paratrooper duties. Elmo says that he has his best season on the diamond down south, batting .377 for the service team. He played on the same club as Roy Weatherbee, former Cleveland Indian and New York Yankee star.

When this war is over, there will be a tremendous boom in auto racing. Jimmy Wilburn, world's champion dirt track auto driver, says that behind the wheels of service jeeps is being developed the greatest collection of daredevil racing drivers in history. "What about boxing?" Commander was asked. "No," says the chief of the coast guard physical fitness program, "there are no real good boxing men that I've observed in this war. It takes three or four years to develope a topnotch fighter." Dempsey, in an interview with a Miami sports writer, said that sports must go on, no matter what happens.

The Warren Hockey League resumes action again Sunday afternoon on the Beaty ice with two games slated. The leabue, which was started by the Committee on Community Recreation, is rapidly increasing its interest, with about 200 fans attending last week's encounters. At 2 o'clock Sunday, Johnny Ward's six takes on Duckett's crew, and at 3 o'clock, Mellanders and Munchs will clash. Dix Hines, baseball moundsman and basketball official, has been secured to officiate the games. Hines, in his youth, played a great deal of hockey in the New England states, and is still playing. Last week, Bud Wyer's Pleasant Township iceman defeated the Johnson sextet, 8-5, in the first game and Massa forfeited to Mellanders in the second game.

The revised schedule of the YWCA Girls' cage loop will be in use tomorrow night with New Process and Sylvania opening hostilities at 7 o'clock. The second battle will bring together the Thomas Coupling sextet and the Struthers Wells six. There are now five teams in the league, Sylvania plant No. 2 re-entering the loop.

The top place teams in the YMCA City cage loop play tonight in battles which may upset the league standing. At 7:30, Nick Creola's National Forge five takes on the Baker aggregation, and at 8:30, the Struthers Wells quint tangles with the Sylvania crew.

The Forge and Struthers are both out to remain in the top notch posts, but their opponents are set to score upsets in the loop which would drop them out of first place. Manager Creola, of the National Forge, is hopeful that his five can remain unbeaten in the first half, and will start his five regulars. Wright and Giegerich will be at the forward positions, Aumer at center, and Fred Beyer and Manager Creola at the two guard posts. For the Bakers, Toyer and Tucker will take over the forward spots, with Harrington at center and McGarry and Taylor starting at the guards. The Baker five, made up of high school boys, have an advantage of speed over the veteran Forge crew, but the Irvineites expect to use their shooting skills to chalk up another win.

In the Struthers-Sylvania contest, Red Swanson, Struthers manager, is expected to start with Bob Chase and Willard Zerbe at guards, Allie Lord at center, and Dick Finley, ex-high school performer and Ted Kaminski at forwards. The strong ironworkers' crew may be upset tonight if the Sylvanians hit a hot streak. Dick Schumacher, who starred for the local high school, as well as professional teams a number of years ago, has taken over the reigns of the electricians and will probably put Hand and Billy Massa at forwards, Don Bjers at center, and Roy Juusola and Book at the guard posts.

Wolves Trim Sheffield Five, 35-33, at Kane

Kane High School's basketeers copped the first round of the District Nine championship Tuesday night, downing the Sheffield Wolverines, 35-33, on the Kane hardwood. Timopson paced the Wolves with 11 markers and Otto was high for the Sheffielders with 13. Lineups:

Tapering - Off Process Five Yrs. for Dodds

Los Angeles, Feb. 1—(AP)—Gil Dodds, the pacing parson, may be through as a competitive runner, but it will take five years for him to taper off from the strenuous conditioning process that made him America's No. 1 distance star.

Dodds was en route today to Dallas to resume his youth evangelist mission. He completed a week of these meetings in Los Angeles before his departure. His life, he says, is to be devoted to nondenominational religious work, with emphasis on youth and its problems.

Galloping Gilbert had several workouts in the big Los Angeles Memorial Stadium while here and ran a quarter mile in 51.5, the fastest of his life.

The medicos have told Dodds, who was graduated recently from a Boston Theological school, that he can't quit running altogether. The human heart, complex machine that it is, must be slowed down gradually.

New York State Legislature Steps Into Cage Affair; Jury Returns Conspiracy Charge

By JOE REICHLER

Brooklyn, Feb. 1.—(AP)—With New York' state's legislature lending a legal hand, as far as the Empire State is concerned, basketball officials and other interested sportsmen throughout the nation today renewed their efforts to stamp out widespread gambling on games which one source estimated ran as high as $10,000,000 weekly.

While a Kings county grand jury returned yesterday conspiracy indictment against two men charged with bribing five Brooklyn College basketball players, the state legislature received two bills directly connected with gambling on sports contests.

Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson introduced a bill to amend the penal law which would make amateur athletes liable to fines up to $1,000 and imprisonment for one to five years. The present law applies only to professionals.

Also introduced in the legislature was a bill amending the penal code to make the offering of a bribe to an amateur athlete a felony, instead of a misdemeanor. A person found guilty of a felony is subject to 10 to 20 years imprisonment, whereas a misdemeanor is punishable by only one to two years.

Accused in the Kings county grand jury indictment were Harvey Stenmer and Henry Rosen, confessed bookmakers, who were charged with conspiring to "defraud the public" by bribing five Brooklyn College players to throw a game against Akron University of Ohio, scheduled at Boston last night. The game was cancelled.

No charges were placed against Bernard Barnett, Larry Pearlstein, Robert Leder, Jerry Green and Stanley Simon, the Brooklyn players, although they were named in the indictment as co-conspirators and will appear as witnesses when the case comes up before County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz on Feb. 13.

The five players, already dropped from the school team, face possible sterner punishment today. The Brooklyn College faculty student athletic board was to meet this morning to decide on action. Leder is a member, as well as president of the college athletic association, but will not sit in at the meeting.

Doctor Haines Wins Honors As Ace Archer

Dr. F. G. Haines, of this city, has won outstanding honor as an archer in the shooting that was done last October. He has been made a member of the Wing Club of the National Archery Association with headquarters in Boston, Mass. This is an exclusive society of archers and only those who shoot an arrow a long distance are eligible. Last year only three men out of all who took part in the flights held over the United States qualified for membership. Dr. Haines shot an arrow further than any other man of his age in the United States sending an arrow winging 397 yards and two feet.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Haines are ardent devotees of archery and took part in the District Flight Tournament conducted by the Lakewood Club at Fredonia, N. Y. last October. In the shoot at Fredonia Dr. and Mrs. Haines each stood in first place in the records as compiled there and in the national standing each was 12th, in the list of archers over the nation. Records are compiled for the nation at the national headquarters. They are now being sent out and Dr. Haines received a list of the standings some time ago. The records made at Fredonia were made with a 50 pound bow.

The honor won by the local folk in the world of archery are noteworthy and both are to be congratulated on their success as they devote much time and practice in the sport.

Today was quite a big day up at the First National Bank. Nope we didn't get all our stale notes out but Charles Conarro celebrated his 64th anniversary with the bank. And as he says "the toughest part of it is that before going to the First National I was with the Warren Savings bank, having started work there on June 1st, '76" Mr. Conarro is enjoying most wonderful health, his memory is first class and he is an avid follower of the events of the day. "Everyonce in a while" he said today 'I get a letter from William Muir and he says 'Charley I read about you folks up in Warren wading through the snow and I really think that the older generation is a little tougher than the younger one'. It maybe that he is right as I have never been really sick. Perhaps though bankers do live longer as they are indoors a great deal and not exposed so much to the weather".

Anyway Mr. Conarro is on the job every day and his many friends and business associates today are extending wishes that it may be mahy more years that they will find him at his desk at the bank.

Despite bad driving conditions 14 members and two guests, Mrs. Wade Ransom and Mrs. Mendel Lawson spent a delightful evening in the pleastnt home of Mrs. Clair Hendrickson in Youngsville, Jan. 18th. The president, Mrs. Ernest Crull, presided and as this was the first meeting of the new year chose "New Years Pageant" for the topic. The year was divided into seasons, and then into months with wishes for each month of 1945 and all culminating into one big wish for "Peace".

The fourth chapter of Proverbs was read as the scripture lesson. During the business session, Mrs. Roy Lightner presented a splendid report as treasurer of the society. It was accepted with thanks. The free will offering for the evening added much to the treasury whose funds aid in some of the expenditures of the church it represents. The social part of the meeting was spent in visiting and the enjoyment of delicious refreshments served by the hostess at prettily candle lighted tables in dining room.

Mrs. Ben Huckabone of Starbrick will be the hostess on Thursday evening, Feb. 15th and it is hoped the weather moderates by then, if not before.

RUSSIANS SMASH TO BANKS OF ODER RIVER

ALONG 70-MILE FRONT ZHUKOV MASSES UNITS FOR ATTACK ON BERLIN'S GREATEST DEFENSES

German High Command Claims it Has Hurled in Reserves to Halt Invading Columns Now Advancing East of Frankfurt

RED AIR FLEET IS RAKING MILITARY HIGHWAYS

By JAMES F. KING

London, Feb. 1—(AP)—The Russians with their fast-paced tanks and infantry have smashed to the banks of the Oder northwest of Kustrin at a point about 39 miles from Berlin, the German high command announced today.

It was possible that the Russians were even closer than 39 miles, for the German communique did not give the exact location of the penetration to the river. The Oder swings to within 28 miles of Berlin northwest of Kustrin, but immediately northwest of Kustrin it is 39 miles from the capital, and it seemed more likely that a point in the Kustrin vicinity was meant.

The eastern edge of Kustrin itself, one of the chief defenses of the German capital, was reached by the swift Soviet punches rapidly spreading the fires of war to the heart of the Reich, said German broadcasts.

Along a 70-mile front Marshal Gregory Zhukov massed waves of tanks and infantry for a quick smash at Berlin's greatest defenses.

But at the center of his spearhead in the 40-mile-wide Frankfurt salient between the Oder and the Warthe, the German high command said it had hurled in its reserves to halt the invading columns, which already had broken through a defense shield 23 miles east of Frankfurt.

Red air fleet planes raked the Berlin-Frankfurt highway and Moscow dispatches said Nazi prisoners reported panic in the German capital because German civilians believed the airmen's red flares were artillery flashes.

Officially, Moscow placed the closest Soviet approach to Berlin at 63 miles, but an Associated Press dispatch from Moscow virtually confirmed the German reports of a much deeper advance.

Kustrin, a 16th century fortified town of 16,000, is on the east bank of the Oder and on the north bank of the Warthe at the confluence of the two rivers.

DNB said this key town, one of the chief defenses of Berlin, was approached by Zhukov's forces on the north side of the Warthe which captured Lansberg and then moved on to Beyersdorf, 63 miles north of Berlin.

It was about Frankfurt, a city of 75,000 on the west side of the Oder 17 miles south of Kustrin, that the Germans had grouped their strongest fortifications along the line of the Oder to protect communications between Berlin and Breslau in Silesia.

With his wings spread out on a 70-mile front, Zhukov was preparing for a mighty battle along the Oder which might break German resistance and let the Red army flood into Berlin.

The Germans were reported dynamiting, shelling and bombing the Oder in a frantic effort to break up natural ice bridges.

The Russians quoted German prisoners as saying large elements of the German air force had been stripped from the Cologne and Aachen sector of the western front as the Nazi high command threw in everything to stop the Russians.

Meanwhile, Gauleiter-dictator Paul Goebbels of Berlin was reported preparing a death-stand defense of Berlin.

"The enemy is ready to launch a frontal attack on the capital," the Berlin broadcast told the people.

Three Swedish travelers, who had just reached Sweden from Berlin, were quoted in a Stockholm dispatch as saying that flashes from frontline artillery duels could be seen in Berlin. The thunder of battle, however, was not yet audible in the capital, they said.

Air passengers arriving in Sweden yesterday said that 10 to 20 exacuation trains were being run out of Berlin daily, taking residents to the southern province of Saxony.

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—Its two biggest obstacles cleared, limited national service legislation faced a relatively minor hurdle today before final house passage sends it to the senate.

Barring an unexpected upset, it will leave the house in substantially the form recommended by the military committee—minus controversial "anti-closed shop" and "anti-discrimination" provisions which earlier had threatened to kill it.

Safe voting margins piled up yesterday to knockd down those two explosive proposals were counted on by backers of the legislation to hold firm today. They believe also they can turn back any other amendments to the legislation which was requested by President Roosevelt to provide the manpower needed for expanded war production.

"It's all over but the formality of a vote," said Chairman May (D-Ky) of the military committee. The bill will be passed late today by a margin of at least two to one, and there will be no major amendments."

Still to be disposed of are proposals:

To approach the manpower problem on a voluntary basis by giving the War Manpower Commission power to enforce employment ceilings on industry.

To put legal teeth into the WMC's existing job referral system by which it has sought to persuade men to move into essential jobs.

The military committee bill—a coercive proposition—provides that any man between 18 and 45 may be directed by his local draft board to take an essential job under threat of induction, fine or imprisonment.

100 Reported Dead In Mexican Wreck

Mexico City, Feb. 1—(AP)—More than 100 persons were reported killed and about 150 injured in a rear end collision of trains at Cazadero, state of Hidalgo, about 100 miles north of here at 2:47 a. m. today.

It was said a freight train crashed into the rear of a passenger train of Pilgrims passing the station of Cazadero and bound for Mexico City. The pilgrims were returning from a religious festival for the Virgin Mary at San Juan De Los Lagos, in the state of Jalisco.

Ban on Conventions Expected To Ease Hotel Room Shortage

By the Associated Press

The nation's hotel keepers today greeted the start of the government's ban on non-essential conventions with both relief and apprehension.

An Associated Press survey indicated the ban would ease the hotel room shortage in such cities as New York, Philadelphia, New Orleans and Cleveland, but a spokesman for the American Hotel Association said the government ruling would cut business sharply in many cities where hotels were not crowded.

The ban, effective today, prohibits conventions attended by more than 50 persons unless such conventions are given special permits because of their importance to the war effort. The measure was aimed primarily at lightening railroad traffic.

Joseph E. Mears, vice president of the Philadelphia Hotel Association, described the ban as a "godsend" because "now we can better accomodate travelers on essential war business."

Hotel officials in New Orleans welcomed the ban because "we'll turn down only a few hundred people daily instead of a thousand."

A Statler company spokesman said convention cancellations were "very large" in Boston, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis and Pittsburgh. Spokesmen in Chicago said conventions scheduled there this week would be held as scheduled.

Yanks Thrust Deeper Into Germany

Soldier Will Spend Furlough in Mines

Westland, Feb. 1—(AP)—S/Sgt. George Vincent, a former coal miner now home on furlough after 26 months overseas, is going back to the mines "to relieve the coal shortage."

The 25-year-old turret gunner who recently completed 21 missions in the South Pacific says he intends to spend 14 days of his furlough mining needed coal.

"It's harder than flying," he said, "and I'm better fixed financially than ever before. This is to relieve the coal shortage."

Effort Made To Delay Vote on Nomination

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—The administration defeated all-out foes of Henry Wallace today by forcing a delay in senate consideration of his cabinet nomination.

Through the delay, which may extend into weeks, Wallace backers hoped to win ultimate confirmation of the former vice president by stripping the commerce department of its huge lending agencies.

Beating down on a 43 to 41 vote an attempt by Senator Bailey (D-NC) to force immediate consideration of the appointment, the senate leadership obtained right of way for the George bill. This is the measure designed to set up the RFC and other lending agencies as a separate administration.

The vote on the Bailey motion at first was a 42 to 42 tie, but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) changed his vote to "no" in a futile attempt to force reconsideration in the hope the Wallace foes could summon additional senators. A tie vote defeats a motion such as Bailey made.

Vice President Truman, presiding, ruled Taft out of order when Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky complained that he had not yielded the floor.

Barkley then moved to bring up the bivy by Senator George (D-Ga.)

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—The administration won a slender victory in the fight to salvage a cabinet post for Henry Wallace today when the senate voted 43 to 41 to delay action on the nomination.

The original vote on the Bailey motion was a tie, 42 to 42, but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) changed his vote in order to be able to move reconsideration of the motion of Senator Bailey (D-NC) to put the senate in executive session to consider the nomination immediately.

The senate immediately began voting on the question of recon-

CORRECTION MADE ON A. W. O. L. ABROAD

Paris, Feb. 1—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, U. S. Provost marshal said today that 8,000 American soldiers are abent without leage in the European theatre—not 18,000 as reported last week in a statement credited to his office.

Reckford said the 18,000 total, which was published in the army newspaper Stars and Stripes Jan. 26, probably had been computed by adding the approximately 600 new AWOL cases reported daily and not taking into account those who returned to duty each day.

Surplus Property Sales Investigated

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—Senators investigating the surplus property sales of Jacob (The Finder) Goldberg sought to develop today the extent of his contacts in government circles.

Testimony already in the record discloses he got a contract from the Defense Plant Corporation to conduct two auctions despite his alleged attempt to "buy the influence" of a $5,600 DPC engineer with an offer of a $20,000 job.

It came yesterday from John VanGinhoven, acting engineer in charge of DPC surplus property in the Nashville, Tenn., district.

Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York, whose complaint against Goldberg, veteran finder and auctioneer of distressed properties, led to the investigation, was called in today to tell his story.

VanGinhoven testified that Goldberg offered him a job at a meeting in a hotel room in Cleveland, O., last August 9.

U.S. WARSHIPS APPROACHING CORREGIDOR

Tokyo Broadcasts Report Cruising of American Shipping in Bataan Peninsula

SUBIC BAY OCCUPIED

By the Associated Press

American warships are nearing Corregidor while others in Subic bay are shelling northwestern Bataan peninsula in the Philippines, unconfirmed Tokyo radio broadcasts reported today.

"The enemy is sending warships to the vicinity of Corregidor island," one broadcast said. "From Corregidor (at the entrance of Manila bay); cruising of American shipping in the adjacent waters is reported."

A Domei news agency dispatch said "more than ten battleships, cruisers, destroyers and several other unidentified ships" had steamed into Subic bay, which Gen. Douglas MacArthur earlier announced was again being converted into an American naval station.

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Feb. 1—(AP)—Subic bay and its naval repair base of Olongapo, dotted with pillboxes but inexplicably abandoned by the Japanese, were back in American hands today as unblunted Yank spearheads to the east rolled clear of a dangerous bottleneck passage only 28 road miles from Manila.

Well-fortified Grande Island, the "little Corregidor" guarding the entrance to Subic bay, was taken without opposition Tuesday by Eighth Army troops. Units of the U. S. Seventh Fleet then steamed into Subic Bay.

Other elements of Lt. Gen. Robert Eichelberger's Eighth Army moved by road along the inner rim of Subic Bay to capture the Olongapo naval base which, before the war, was an American depot.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in his communique today that "we are now using this excellent anchorage, and development of a naval base is already under way."

Failure of the Japanese to put up a fight in this natural defense zone was as puzzling as the enemy's lack of opposition at Subic Bay.

The Americans crossed the Pampanga river just north of Calumpit to swing free of the swampy corridor and aim down the straight Manila highway. They were approaching Malolos, 22 road miles from Manila.

Another Railroad Embargo Planned

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—Another embargo on civilian railroad freight has been decided upon.

One official said the only questions remaining to be decided are the time and the territory it will embrace. It is regarded likely that the period will be for three days, probably beginning at midnight Saturday.

A similar embargo in effect last weekend included all parts of ten states east and south of the Great Lakes, and the District of Columbia.

Officials of the Office of Defense Transportation conferred today with the association of American Railroads to determine the area to be affected, along with the exact time of its application.

SUPERFORT SORTIES OVER JAPAN REPORTED

By the Associated Press

Unconfirmed Tokyo broadcasts today reported three single Superfortress sorties over the home islands of Japan last night.

The broadcasts, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, monotonously claimed all bombs fell in forests or paddy fields.

The B-29's were reported over Shikoku island, lying between oft bombed Honshu and Kyushu islands, and the east coast of Honshu, the main island of Nippon.

SAILOR ASPHYXIATED

Philadelphia, Feb. 1—(AP)—Machinist's Mate 1/C Francis A. Spell, 22, Charleston, S. C., was asphyxiated accidentally today and his wife, Geraldine, 19, overcome at the home of Spell's aunt, Mrs. William A. Evans of suburban Drexel Hill. Mrs. Evans said she found a gas burner turned on, but the flames extinguished. Spell was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital, but his wife was revived.

513 Men of Corregidor, Singapore and Bataan Are Rescued From Jap Prison Camp

By C. YATES McDANIEL

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Jan. 31.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Men of Bataan, Corregidor and Singapore—513 of them—were snatched from under the flaming muzzles of Japanese guns last night in an exploit of unmatched daring.

Some 400 picked men of the Sixth Ranger Battalion and Filipino guerrillas made a commando raid 25 miles behind Japanese lines to empty a prison camp and partially fulfill one of the Philippines objectives closest to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's heart.

They took Japanese guards by surprise and rescued 486 Americans, 23 British, three Netherlanders and one Norwegian—all that were left in the prison camp in Nueva Ecija province of eastern Luzon.

Many more hundreds of more able-bodied war prisoners had been sent to work camps in Japan. Hundreds of others had died.

All but two of the men were brought out alive by the 121 men of the Sixth Ranger Battalion who stormed into the prison stockade under command of Lt. Col. Henry Mucci of Bridgeport, Conn.

The Rangers attacked with such merciless precision that not one of the Japanese stockade guards was left alive or able to resist. And they attacked with such care that not one of the prisoners was scratched.

Within a matter of minutes all had been released and were on their 25 miles journey to freedom, walking, carried on backs of husky Rangers or riding in carabao carts.

Nearly 100 were so weak from malnutrition, disease and three-year-old wounds that they could not walk when they were cut loose from Japanese bondage.

The rescue cost the lives of 27 Rangers and Filipinos in a guerrilla unit led by Maj. Robert Lapham of Davenport, Ia., who fought off a savage tank-led Japanese attack along the escape corridor.

The raiders killed 523 Japanese—more than one for every prisoner released—and knocked out 12 enemy tanks.

This first mass liberation of Allied prisoners of war in the western Pacific was accomplished by an all-night forced march east of the American lines to Cabu.

The commando raid, ordered on short notice when intelligency reports disclosed the whereabouts of the camp, was such a success that General MacArthur decorated every man in the force.

The lean and rugged captives received the homage of thousands of American soldiers now fighting to redeem the islands for which the veterans fought so valiantly and hopelessly. The youthful GI's formed an impromptu honor guard, flanking a military highway down which the rescue party passed after it returned to American lines.

It was the last of many marches for the rescued men—marches which began with the brutal "Death March of Bataan."

The freed men showed their happiness, despite their sores and ulcers, wasted bodies and ragged clothes.

Some looked helplessly up from litters. Others were proudly erect. There were old men with grey hair and dazed, sunken eyes. Some were surprisingly young and almost at their normal weight. Others were limp from beri-beri.

Their shirts were tattered. Shorts were patched and repatched. Several officers still proudly wore their emblem of rank. There were battered campaign hats, overseas caps and one pre-war type helmet.

Country Lanterns In Display Windows

Washington, Pa., Feb. 1—(AP)—The "brownout" failed to faze a cafe proprietor here. Promptly at midnight last night he extinguished the electric window display lights and substituted two old-fashioned country lanterns.

Key Measure To Cut Taxes Is Advanced

Harrisburg, Feb. 1—(AP)—A key administration measure to help local government reduce real estate taxes was ready today for prompt enactment in the general assembly.

A bill to re-enact the emergency one-cent tax on gasoline permanently and turn the $22,500,000 collected biennially into the motor fund was reported favorably by the house ways and means committee and will be on the calendar when lawmakers return next week.

Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, house majority leader, said a companion bill to allocate money raised by the levy for municipalities to finance highway work is being drafted by the joint state government commission.

Also readied for floor action were other tax bills calling for re-enactment for another two years of emergency levies on liquor, cigarettes, gross receipts and corporate net income. Martin has estimated these taxes will raise $151,700,000 in the coming biennium.

A bill to permit the revenue secretary, with the governor's approval, to extend the automobile inspection period as much as 60 days was also placed in position for speedy action.

The assembly is adjourned until Monday, February 5.

Maine Officials Probe Home Fire

Auburn, Me., Feb. 1—(AP)—Maine officials began a series of investigations today to determine cause of a fire which snuffed out the lives of 16 children and a nurse in a privately-owned boarding home.

Even as state and local officials met in closed session at police headquarters hundreds of townsfolk assembled to pay final homage to the first of the children to be buried.

One investigation was launched by Harry O. Page, state commissioner of health aind welfare who said he could not "understand the great loss of life."

Fire officials were unable to explain cause of the blaze after Mrs. Eva Lacoste, the proprietor of the home, retracted her original statement that a coal heatnig stove in the kitchen had exploded.

BURN TO DEATH

Latrobe, Feb. 1—(AP)—Mrs. Jerome Baur, 25, and her five-year-old son, Jerome, Jr., burned to death yesterday in a fire started by matches the boy was playing with in the attic of their home. Mrs. Baur's clothing ignited when she made a futile effort to rescue her son.

Thousands of Workers Idle As Cold Weather Curtails Gas Supplies in Factories

Pittsburgh, Feb. 1—(AP)—Thousands of workers became idle today when continued cold weather made it necessary to curtail gas supplies to all non-essential factories and to many war plants.

The weather bureau said no break in the weather is expected for at least another 48 hours.

All gas companies' curtailments were 100 per cent to non-essential industries. All production gas had been shut off, only gas for necessary maintenance being supplied. The action was taken, they said, to protect domestic users whose needs had shot up rapidly, particularly because coal is hard to get.

The Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. said that if zero weather continues it likely will have to curtail supplies tomorrow to other war customers, including American Steel & Wire Co., The Mesta Machine Co., and four Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. plants.

The gas companies said the curtailment did not necessarily mean the plants affected would all go out of production. Some of them have standby fuel supplies of oil or propane, although they have been seriously depleted by previous gas shortages.

Ice formations in the Monongahelia river today threatened a further shackling of much needed coal shipments to western Pennsylvania's meager coal bins.

The Solid Fuels Administration said barges normally carrying 900 tons of coal had to cut their load as low as 700 tons. One barge shipment, SFA said, required six hours to pass through one upper river lock.

Earlier the SFA reported diverting coal from utilities and railroads to relieve the plight of household consumers.

New Castle, Pa., and Youngstown, O., mayors appealed for increased supplies, the SFA said. New Castle schools have been closed all week.

Additional snow snarled traffic on highways. The automobile club of Pittsburgh advised no travel to Erie to the north and Blairsville to the east. All roads in and out of Erie, except Route 20, are closed, the AAA said. The club said there is one way traffic to Blairs-

3,000 in Uniform Become Citizens

Philadelphia, Feb. 1—(AP)—On lonely Christmas island, a GI solemnly raised his right hand and repeated the oath of citizenship.

On Bougainville 300 soldiers and sailors pledged their loyalty in unison, their voices ringing against a background provided by motors of a flight of bombers leaving an adjoining air strip.

On a battleship, in the jungles near the front on Wadke, huddled in a shelter during an air attack on Saipan . . .

Thus did nearly 3,000 American fighting men become citizens at Pacific battlefronts during a recent 11-month, 50,000 mile trip by Dr. Henry B. Hazard, 64-year old naturalization officer.

Dr. Hazard, professor of political science at American University, Washington, D. C., has traveled nearly 100,000 miles since the second war power act authorized admission of servicemen to citizenship.

Installations In Singapore Area Bombed

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—Superfortresses bombed Japanese military installations in the Singapore area today for the third time.

A press flash from 20th Air Force headquarters said B-29s of Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramey's 20th Bomber Command struck by daylight from India bases. Details of the mission will be announced when operational reports are received.

In their last attack Jan. 11 on this naval basion at the tip of the Malay peninsula Superforts blasted shipping installations with good results. The first strike was made Nov. 5.

Once called Britain's "Gibraltar of the east," Singapore was seized by the Japanese in 1942 and converted into their principal naval base in the Malay-Netherlands East Indies area. Its huge naval works can repair the largest vessels.

On nearby Penang island the Japanese maintain a big submarine haven. Both Singapore and the Georgetown naval base on Penanfi are key distribution points for supplies and merchant shipping plying the Japan-East Indies sea route.

The round trip flight—largely over water—encompasses more than 3,500 miles.

UNUSUAL FATALITY

Johnstown, Feb. 1—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Van Dusen, 75, died in Lee General Hospital last night of burns suffered when the head of a match she was striking flew off and ignited her clothing, Deputy Coroner Joseph Govekar reported.

EERIE SILENCE COVERS NAZI GUNS ON LINE

Heaviest Enemy Resistance Is Limited to Small Arms And Accurate Mortar Screening

TROOPS ARE AMAZED

BULLETIN

Paris, Feb. 1—(AP)—Shock troops of the First and Ninth divisions penetrated deeply into the central Siegfried line today and erased the last vestige of the bulge driven into the American First Army front before Christmas. Patrols of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army stormed the Siegfried line ramparts in three sectors, encountering opposition ranging from scant to heavy.

By JAMES M. LONG

Paris, Feb. 1—(AP)—Patrols of the fighting First Division broke into the first ramparts of the Siegfried line today 11 miles southeast of Monschau, and found only a flicker of life in Hitler's concrete western fortifications.

The First Army troops crossed the first row of dragon teeth tank barriers in a section of the Siegfried line never before breached.

Farther north, 37 miles of the line have been conquered by the Americans in the Aachen-Roer river sector.

Along a front of 40 miles, the American First and Third armies struck with a vengeance into pillboxes fringing the line, which battlefront dispatches described as strangely quiet—its artillery silent and its resistance mainly from small arms. Great sections of the fortifications were under American artillery fire.

Overnight advances generally reached four miles deeper into Germany. Village after village fell. Patrols entered the fringes of the Siegfried line in the Monschau sector, where a whole three-mile section was captured earlier in the week. Third Army infantrymen seized four more German towns.

An eerie silence covered the big Nazi guns in the lines, but American artillery of both the First and Third Armies laid a barrage on the fortifications along a 40-mile sector opposite Belgium and Luxembourg. The heaviest enemy resistance was limited strictly to small arms and accurate mortar screening. Troops frankly were amazed at the complete lack of artillery and, in most cases, the enemy's reluctance to stand and fight.

The First Army alone captured 1,332 prisoners in the 24 hours to midnight, its largest haul since Jan. 3. That was a commentary on German morale.

Prisoners of War Sentenced to Die

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Five German prisoners of war have been sentenced to death by a court-martial, Newsweek Magazine says, because they beat to death a fellow prisoner they suspected of giving valuable military information to the United States.

Newsweek, in its Feb. 5 issue, declares the men killed a comrade at Camp Tonkawa, Okla., Nov. 5, 1943, and now are awaiting "their doom in a federal penitentiary."

The dead man was identified as Cpl. Johann Kunze. The five men all non-commissioned officers, were identified as Walther Beyer, Berthold Seidel, Hans Demme, Willi Scholz and Hans Schomer.

Quick Shift of Troops From Europe to Pacific is Planned

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—Prospects of a speedier end of the Japanese war developed today with disclosure of a plan for a quick shift of troops from Europe to the Pacific, once Germany is defeated.

Under this system, which was described by high sources, troops in Europe will leave the bulk of their equipment on the continent and then re-arm in the Pacific with equipment piled up there from this country.

This could mean a saving of months in throwing the full weight of American forces against the Japanese. The campaign against the malready has been described by War Secretary Stimson as ahead of schedule.

The plan will add to war costs, require a continuation of a high rate of production and postpone the day of reconversion.

On the other hand, it was pointed out that it would mean the saving of perhaps thousands of lives that might otherwise be lost in a prolonged campaign.

Two other factors undoubtedly figured in the adoption of the plan: 1. Scarcity of shipping to handle the tons and tons of equipment, and 2. the war against Japan is moving along months ahead of schedule, while the European war is lagging, narrowing the time available to shift European forces to achieve the greatest benefit from their use in the Pacific.

Problems of Placing Soldiers At Work Again Discussed

One of the most interesting and important discussions relative to the problem of placing men returned from the war in industry was held last evening at the YWCA. The affair had been arranged by the Warren County Personnel Association and there were about 100 persons in attendance representing the industrial life of the community. While the dining was under way a stringed ensemble composed of Evelyn Wolstencroft, piano; Mrs. Helen Eckhart Olsen, violin, and Eleanor Sandblade, cello, played some delightful music. The Rev. Harold Warren of the First Presbyterian church gave the invocation.

C. Wolstencroft presided and he introduced the speakers, Major Henry Gross, chief of the veterans personnel division of Selective Service; William Ilgenfritz, veterans employment representative, and Mark Walter, director of the Bureau of Rehabilitation. All were from Harrisburg. Following their introduction the men gave some interesting talks descriptive of the work to be done.

Major Gross proved probably the most interesting speaker of the evening and he outlined the differences between the Selective Service acts and work in World War I and World War II. In World War I no provision was made for the man returning home as is carried in the Selective Service Act of 1940. Section eight of the act of 1940 requires that a man be placed in his old job as he is honorably discharged, it must not be a temporary job, he must apply within 90 days and he must be able to fill the job and he is entitled to all the rights and benefits that have accrued during his absence. If he has not had a job when entering the service, a new one must be provided as it is the sense of congress that he be placed at work.

For the veteran who can't get a job, ways and means are open for securing one. He can apply to the Selective Service board. If they cannot help the referral is made to the Harrisburg office and then if his old job is not forthcoming a United States attorney will take up the matter.

He described how the Pennsylvania veterans are all discharged at Fort Dix and when they are out a notice is sent to the state Selective Service board at Harrisburg and another is sent to the local board. A welcome letter is then sent out by the local board and also one from the USES. All agencies know when the man is expected home and have methods set up to aid him.

An inventory is on hand at all times of discharged veterans and if men are so injured or incapacitated they cannot fill old jobs they are trained by the Veterans Service to do forms of work for which they are fitted.

Many details of the methods were given by the speaker.

William Ilgenfritz followed and outlined the work to be done by the USES of which there are 92 offices in the state all fully staffed with one trained especially for veterans placement. In Warren this is Sylvenus Davis, who has had much instruction in the work and is thoroughly conversant with it. The USES is endeavoring to aid employers and also provide help for the veterans. He pointed out that there will be a big percentage of the returning men suffering from physical handicaps. A big price is being paid for victory, much more than the uninformed person knows, and it is estimated that 50% of all returned men will be suffering from some handicap.

He also put across the idea that locally a committee must be formed to assist in the work as in the last analysis the problem is up to the home folk. He appealed strongly for all to assist in the work, as while the USES has plenty of tools to do their job and are trying to do a good job, they cannot be 100% efficient.

Mr. Walter followed and in a brief manner summed up what the Veterans Rehabilitation can do for the veterans as about 50% will be suffering from a mental condition due to the strain of the war and life on the fighting fronts. They must be aided. Others must be fitted with glasses, braces and other equipment. Industry and the schools of the land must awaken as one out of every six men will have a physical handicap that must be overcome by training. He gave an insight into the methods to be used in aiding men to get schools, homes, businesses, etc., and become independent and self supporting.

The discussions were followed by a question and answer period and for over one and one-half hours the men fired questions which were all answered, and in a clear manner.

A vote of thanks for the aid of the Times-Mirror in giving publicity to the meeting was given and it was also suggested that a local committee to act in an advisory capacity be formed to assist the veterans who return to this county.

Cars Crash on Slippery St.; Damage Slight

Police investigated the crash of two cars on Pennsylvania avenue near the Everts Hardware Store last evening at 7 o'clock. A car driven by Mildred T. Jaynes, 312 Chestnut street going west on Pennsylvania avenue skidded out of a rut and smashed into the rear wheel of a Ford truck of the Falconer Plate Glass Company, driven by Herbert N. Peterson, Falconer, N. Y. Damage of $20 was done to the Jaynes car.

At 8:56 another crash took place at the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and Second street when a truck driven by Joseph Guiffre, 900 Fourth avenue struck a Buick Sedan driven by A. G. Schwartz RD 1, Oil City. Damage of $45 was done to the Schwartz car.

Sport Club Celebrated Anniversary

The Fairchilds Sportsmens Club held its first quarterly Tureen Birthday Dinner January 30 at 7:00 p. m. at the home of Raymond Yeagle in Pleasant Township.

The introduction of new members was conducted by the president Jack Rapp.

After all were seated at the bountiful tables, a short summary of the club's coming activities was given by Jack Rapp. Also a short summary of possible activities that will add to the interest and membership of the club was given by Earl Strom.

After the dinner a series of movies was presented by Jay Pees through the courtesy of the Department of Forests and Waters. The remainder of the evening was spent at cards, and other games.

All left for home at a late hour declaring it a huge success.

Extend Time For Campaign Into February

Althea N. Correll, chairman for the Warren County March of Dimes campaign for this year, announces she has received word that owing to unusual weather conditions the nationwide appeal has been extended to February 15 by the national chairman, Basil O'Connor.

Warren county's present figure stands at $1,600, still a long way from the quota of $3,500 which officials estimate will be needed to cover the 1944 expenses and have something left for any emergencies that may arise in 1945.

This amount is exclusive of theatre collections, according to Mrs. Correll, and these are proving very gratifying.

Some rural communities have not yet completed their solicitations and it is hoped that with the extension in time and the special gifts donors not yet heard from, the local quota may still be reached.

Launching Our 'Yankee Doodle' Robomb

Launching of the new American robomb, adapted from the German V-1: Top, the bomb at the foot of its launching ramp, smoke swooshing as it is about to start the run; middle, it soars in flight, and smoke begins to pour from the bomb's motor, set above the bomb itself; lower, the launching carriage drops off automatically as the bomb's motor takes hold. FASTEST BOMBS

The fastest speed at which a bomb can travel, no matter how far it falls, is about 630 miles per hour, but no plane ever has gone high enough to give its bombs such velocity.

Two Million Dollar Schedule Of Improvements at Warren State Hospital Is Outlined

Governor Edward Martin and Miss S. M. O'Hara, secretary of Welfare have both during the past few months evinced a realization of the needs of the mental institutions of the state. Gov. Martin in his burget sets forth $15,000,000 or enlarging and rehabilitation of the hospitals. Gov. George Earle during his administration took some forward steps in caring for the needs of the wards of the state and made a start on a real building program under a State Authority. That Authority will be folded up soon as its bond issues paid off. Under it the Warren State Hospital received some needed enlargements and improvements. Only one-half of the Earle program for Warren was ever carried out.

Gov. Martin and Miss O'Hara have asked that all institutions made their needs known as the State is seeking to be in position to care for service men who may need hospitalization for shell shock and nervous diseases. To that end Superintendent Israel, of the Warren State Hospital has prepared a program of the most pressing needs of the institution to cover a period of years. He has forwarded this list to Harrisburg and a copy of it was secured from there for publication. It is hoped that the program can be carried out as the institution is badly over crowded and the need for additional land and buildings is imperative.

In the proposed program several buildings are contemplated which would add 400 beds to the use of patients during the first year on an admission building where cases could be studied before being assigned to various portions of the hospital for treatment. An addition to the Guth building adding 50 beds is also recommended. An affiliate nurses building with 100 beds is also contemplated. The program for the first year would add additional farm land which is badly needed tand see a bridge built across the Conewango creek to make the farm lands more accessable. The cost of the first years program would amount to $1,967,900.

The second years program would see several buildings remodeled, elevators installed and other changes made. In this it is also purposed to move the piggery from the rear of the hospital to the east side of the Conewango and enlarge it. A new milk house and pastuerizing plant, a canning plant, installing a refrigerating plant and other projects relating to the farm and its production are also on the program. This program would amount to $496,000.

The next years program would see the construction of two annex buildings, one for men and one for women, each with a capacity of 250 beds and a building for married couples with 50 beds. This program is scheduled for 1949 and would cost $885,000. The last program set for 1953 would also be an extensive one for alterations and would cost $270,000.

Broken down into the various items as suggested by Dr. Israel the program for the various years would be as follows:

$200,000—Rewiring Center, 4 Annexes, Infirmary, Hygela, Mason Hall and Convalescent. Change in water lines. Change in sewage system, (Enlarging sprinkling, filter and sludge beds, provide disposal of sanitary waste, fencing sewage treatment area.

National Forest Timber Cut In 1944 Highest On Record

Timber production for war and essential civilian needs from national forests in 1944 totaled 3,300,000,000 board feet, the largest cut on record since the founding of the Forest Service 40 years ago, Lyle F. Watts, Chief of the Forest Service, said in his annual report (released Jan. 21) to the Secretary of Agriculture, a release from the Warren office states.

Timber from federal forests valued at $14,300,000 supplied approximately 10 percent of all lumber cut in the United States. The production increase was 64 percent over the previous fiscal year. The unusual, wartime demand for national-forest timber was attributed by Mr. Watts to a cumulative shortage of timber on private lands. He warned against possible "local pressures," particularly in thepost-war period, to exceed sustained-yield cutting budgets in the future on public forest lands and added: "There must be no yielding to such pressures."

He expressed concern over "wholesale liquidation of the young timber which should be the source of sawlogs for decades to come" and said the practice is prevalent on privately owned forest lands in the Northeast, South and the Lake States, and is becoming apparent in California and the Northwest where recent analyses show a rapid exhaustion of virgin timber supplies.

The course of forest exploitation in this country shows that the public must act in a far more comprehensive manner than heretofore to stop destructive cutting, to facilitate good practices on private forest lands and to acquire such lands as may not otherwise be given the management dictated by the public interest, Mr. Watts said.

His report lists varied contributions made to the war by the Forest Service. In connection with post-war projects, he said, "home building may easily rise to 900,000 new units per year in the five post-war years"—a construction boom that alone would require 8,000,000,000 board feet of lumber annually. He warned against "unwise attempts in post-war adjustment to colonize for agricultural use lands that are primarily suited for forestry," as was the case after the last war.

Among the effective wartime accomplishments of the Forest Service described in the report were several technological developments from the Forest Production Laboratory at Madison, Wis., where facilities have been devoted almost exclusively to Army, Navy and war industries on a three-shift btsis; stimulation and increase of output by 20,000 small sawmills through the Timber Production War Project; and surveys conducted on behalf of several Federal agencies to determine national lumber production, retail lumber stocks, and anticipated production and consumption of forest products for 1944 and 1945.

From the Forest Products Laboratory, Mr. Watts cited work done on the development of industrial alcohol from wood waste; improvement of physical characteristics of wood by chemical treatment known as acetylation which reduces shrinkage and swelling; development of "staypak," a form of compressed wood of high density and strength now being studied for possible use in making propellers; and research on container and packaging problems which has resulted in saving cargo space to the extent that four ships now carry the material that formerly required five ships.

In spite of adverse factors, including the loss of key leaders in fire control to the armed forces, and the fact that nearly 3,000 more fires occurred, the Forest Service chief reported an improved fire record on State and private lands. His report showed 3,860,143 acres burned over and $9,283,762 damage from 78,815 fires on protected areas. The previous year 75,849 fires burned over 3,862,736 acres and damage was estimated at $9,965,557. On national-forest lands 11,829 fires were reported and 234,323 acres were burned over. Mr. Watts gave special credit to the armed forces for cooperation in fighting forest fires.

The Chief Forester called attention to the urgent need of extending fire protection to 131,000,000 acres of unprotected State and private forest lands but said enactment during the year of legislation increasing the authorization for cooperative fire protection from $2,500,000 to $9,000,000 a year, should open the way for protection o fthese lands.

Because of growing interest in the commercial development of Alaska's forests, the Forest Service chief called for a program of research in the Territory to provide a sound foundation for the utilization and management of Alaskan forest resources. "Mistakes made in the pioneer exploitation of the forests of the United States must not be repeated in Alaska," he said.

In anticipation of the possible development of a permanent pulp and paper industry in Alaska, the Forest Service has invited inspection of a large tract of timber in the southern Tongass National Forest. A tentative draft of conditions under which the timber might be offered for sale was prepared, with the requirement that the timber be manufactured in Alaska to foster continuous employment and permanent industrial communities.

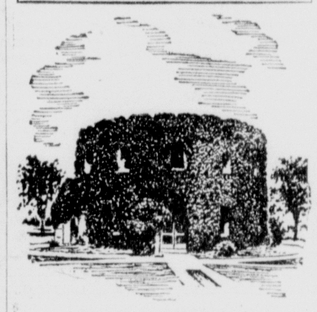

The report calls attention to a 25 percent increase in receipts from livestock grazing on range lanrs within national forests and emphasized the continued success in avoiding over-tocking which proved so disastrous in the first World War Range improvements, re-seeding and rodent control, together with better care and animal husbandry, are paying dividends, although much still remains to be done in this field.

Discussing the opposition to a long-proposed Forest Service program which includes public regulation of forest lands as a means of assuring adequate timber supplies for the future, Mr. Watts said the forest products industries in the last year "have continued a campaign of publicity tending to mislead the people on the seriousness of the forest situation," and that the intensity of the campaign against the Forest Service objectives shows "strong indications that public sentiment for regulation is spreading . . . This trend in public thinking is feared by those whose purposes or philosiphy are in conflict."

In every annual report of the Forest Service since 1937 chief foresters have advocated (1) regulation of cutting practices on privately owned forest lands; (2) increased acquisition of forest lands unsuitable for private operation, and (3) expanded public aids to private forest-land owners.

Bonds Over America

FORT SNELLING

In buying War Bonds today, Americans support armies with traditions for fighting and fairness like those that Fort Snelling, Minn., produced. French and English trappers and traders bought the land it stands on in 1805 from the Sioux for 60 gallons of whisky. Lt. Col. Henry Leavenworth established an Army post there in 1819 and a year later Col. Josiah Snelling began construction of permanent Fort St. Anthony on the bluff overlooking the Minnesota and Mississippi Rivers. The name was changed in 1825 to Fort Snelling. There Major Lawrence Taliaferro became known to the Indians as "Four Hearts" as a result of his 20 years service supervising fur trades, issuing licenses and keeping relations peaceful between the Sioux and Chippewas.

To Get Army?

Possible activation of a new U. S. army on the Western Front is seen in General Eisenhower's recommendation that Maj.-Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, above, commander of the 5th Corps, be elevated to the rank of lieutenant general. The promotion, now before Congress, would rank General Gerow with commanders of U. S. field armies.

Chapter 1

MIKE O'SHANE swore softly as the sweat-streaked pony beneath him stumbled. Swiftly, he kicked free of the oxbow stirrups and slid clear as the paint crashed in a flurry of dust.

"Guess you're through, Spot, but you got sand, aplenty," he growled regretfully.

Sun-scorched features tense, O'Shane swept the back trail. Slowly his pugnacious jaw relaxed and his freckled features crinkled into a relieved grin as he searched in vain for the dust clouds that had stubbornly ballooned in his wake for ten relentless hours.

From ahead, faint but distinct through the clear desert air, came the sharp crack of a Winchester. A second, a third shot followed.

Instantly, O'Shane's stocky form galvanized into alert watchfulness. His wary eyes glimpsed two faint dust clouds, drifting lazily in the distance. "Two hombres, riding hell for leather," he muttered.

For a mile he plodded ahead, tensed and vigilant, angled around a clump of buckthorn, and jerked to a quick stop. Close ahead, stood a riderless roan pony, ground hitched.

Hand upon the butt of his gun, O'Shane approached warily. A groan reached his ears. His gaze darted down to the body of a man half hidden in the stage.

He sank on his knees beside the still figure. Young, figured O'Shane, not much more than his own age. Blood seeped slowly from two bullet holes, one high above the heart, the second dead center.

He pried open the clenched teeth and trickled the water in his canteen down the wounded man's throat.

The stricken man's eyelids quivered, opened.

Unheeding, the Double O foreman abruptly turned away and moved towards the door with long strides.

"Set quiet, amigo," said O'Shane. "You're hit, bad."

"Will—I—check—out?" came in a labored croak.

"No sense in fooling you, pard," returned O'Shane, "I guess you're through."

"How long I got?" he asked.

O'SHANE shrugged. "I'm no sawbones. Mebbe two—three hours. You know this country?"

"Born—here."

"Any town I could tote you to and get a doc?"

"Big River's the—nearest—ten miles west."

O'Shane shook his head slowly. "You'd never make it, pard."

"Gun fight?" O'Shane presently inquired.

"Bushwhacked! I never—got a peep—at the coyote who—plugged me."

"Two," corrected O'Shane, "I saw their dust. What they got against you?"

"Nothing—haven't been around—since I was—knee high."

"Mighty curious!"

"You said it!" mumbled the other, his husky voice gaining strength in its bitterness. "I been a tumbleweed since I was a button. Now my sis, leastways my step-sis, writes and says Paw's dead, leaving the spread in Piute Valley to the pair of us."

"Too bad!" soothed O'Shane. "Guess you kinda looked forward to seeing your sis again."

"Never did see her. Maw died when I was foaled. Paw didn't cotton to me atall. His sister raised me in Abilene."

A TREMOR shook the form of the wounded man, his jaw slowly dropped, and he was dead.

O'Shane straightened, stretched his cramped limbs. "Doggonit!" he muttered, eyeing the still figure. "I could play the hand. He's stocky built, like me, no scars, red hair."

Going through Curran's papers, he found a letter.

He unfolded four pages of slanted feminine handwriting, signed "Joan." His lips parted in an ironical smile as he read.

"It's a cinch. She's in a jam, never seen him, don' know nothing about him . . . and I sure need a hideout."

THE silent stars illumined the heavens when a rider with rusty-red hair ambled down the main street of Big River.

Across the front of a dilapidated wooden structure O'Shane saw a faded sign, "Fowler's Livery Barn."

ter and the hum of conversation issued from a saloon. A huge wagon wheel ornamented its facade.

O'Shane kicked back the batwings and stepped inside.

"Slug o' redeye!" said O'Shane curtly, reaching the bar.

"Hotter 'n hell!" remarked the barkeep conversationally.

O'Shane grinned, then his eyes, focused upon the reflection of a tall rider pushing through the batwings, narrowed.

There was something wolflike about the newcomer. His face, like his frame, was long and bony, with high cheekbones. Lank black hair curled in disorder from beneath his grey Stetson. The copper hue of his parchmentlike skin bespoke Indian blood. A scar showed blue upon his right cheek.

"Who's that jasper?" asked O'Shane softly.

"Jules Fleeson, foreman of the Double O."

Glimpsing O'Shane's questioning eyes in the mirror, he swung round and surveyed the redhead with dark eyes that smouldered in deep pits.

"Ain't we met somewhere?"

"Nope!" returned O'Shane shortly.

"Coulda sworn I'd seen your map before." He poured a short drink and downed it.

"Want a job?"

"Forty and found?" There was faint derision in the redhead's voice.

"Nope, this ain't nursing cows."

"Who's hiring?"

"The Double O."

Devilment danced in the redhead's blue eyes. "You ain't asked who I am."

"Wal, who are you?" demanded Fleeson carelessly, glass in hand.

"Tom Curran. Guess I'll do the hiring from now on."

The glass slipped through Fleeson's fingers and smashed to fragments on the floor. His dark features were unmoved, but O'Shane saw amazement, doubt, incredulity, register in the depths of his somber eyes.

"Reckon I'll ride out—" began the redhead, but, unheeding, the Double O foreman abruptly turned away and moved towards the door with long strides.

KEEPING TRADITION

The men of old I Company, scattered as they have been by wholesale transfers to many World War Two fronts, nevertheless are writing a magnificent record of combat heroism in this global struggle against the Axis.

The gallant performance of the outfit, with perhaps many from Warren county still in its ranks, as it fought with the 28th Division against the von Rundstedt counter-offensive in Luxembourg, which headlined the record at that time, and now, as yesterday's dispatches stated, with the U. S. Third, fighting under French command, wedged within a half mile of the northeast outskirts of Colmar, home of the designer of the Statue of Liberty, is writing a notable record of military achievement.

But it must not be forgotten that those local men still with the 28th, now known as the "Bloody Bucket" Division, fought with valor across Normandy and Belgium. Nor should it be forgotten that many of the men who left here almost four years ago for training have been fighting the Nazis and Japs on other fronts—in Italy and southern France and in a half-dozen sectors of the Pacific theatre.

Their participation in this struggle to beat the Fascist enemies has been an inevitably costly one, with records necessarily incomplete.

They, with scores of other comrades from Warren county homes, have paid the price of the American complacency and carelessness which followed the sacrifices of their fathers who went to France 25 years ago to fight the "war to end all wars."

Our humble tribute to those I Company men who paid the supreme sacrifice in this war. Our salute, as well, to a gallant fighting outfit and to the courageous men it trained and sent into other units of Uncle Sam's army.

PRACTICAL RETRIBUTION

The recapture of Clark Field on Luzon, like the recapture of Guam, brought a dramatic climax of retribution to our steady advance in the Pacific war. It avenged in part the savage, stealthy Jap attack of December 18, 1941, which destroyed planes and pilots and helped to hasten the fall of Manila.

But the field's recapture is of practical as well as dramatic value. It provides a springboard for air operations which will seal the Japs' fate in Manila. And with Manila retaken, one of our great supply and repair problems will be solved.

Thus far our Pacific supply problem has been complicated by some ships which had no equipment for unloading onto lighters offshore. For that reason it was necessary to send them to Hawaii or Australia and there transfer cargo to other vessels.

With Manila Bay's deep water and port facilities, many miles and much labor will be saved. And, of course, it will also give us an invaluable base for naval operations against the China coast and Japanese islands. Now with a bomber base almost in Manila's outskirts, the prize is within reach.

It should not be necessary to remind music lovers that the mid-winter concert to be given by the High School band is to be played this evening at Beaty building, and not tomorrow night as was inadvertently stated in Wednesday's issue. The program is one that will provide varied entertainment for lovers of band music. It is a foregone conclusion that a capacity audience will be present.

This is an important date in the life of Charley Conarro, who rounds out 64 years with the First National Bank. That's a long time to be doing business with the public, but Charley's smile is just as infectious today as it was on that blustery February 1st, 1881, when he entered the employ of the bank. Our congratulations to Mr. Conarro, the bank and the community which he has served so long and faithfull.

Anyhow, this year the actions of the groundhog will not have to be suppressed as a military secret.

By the way, are you keeping those letters going to the men and women in the service?

Around It Goes, Where It Stops Nobody Knows

Part-Time MOTHER

AP Newsfeatures

by DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

YESTERDAY: Penny, rushed to the hospital by Trudy, her mother-in-law, gives birth to a boy. She feels bitter that her husband, Jim, had not stood by during her hour of need. But caring for her baby in the hospital turns out to be sheer joy. She submerges all her feelings in the child. But when the baby is home, and turned over to Trudy, she is amazed at her feeling of resentment. She wants to take care of the child alone. Then a telegram comes for Trudy from Florida and the secret is out. Trudy had refused Miles Winters' proposal of marriage to take care of the baby. Penny and Jim insist that Trudy marry Winters. Penny assures Trudy that she really wants to be a mother to her baby—her career means nothing now.

Chapter 6

THEN she looked at Jim and thought with just a shade of bitterness how different things could have been if she still had the same love for him—and the same trust. Trudy was putting in her call for Miami at the telephone downstairs. Penny wondered if Miles Winter would ever disappoint Trudy. And how could she be happy with Jim again when she knew how unreliable, how selfish he was?

Jim cleared his throat nervously. Without turning from the window, he asked, "Have you really thought this through, Penny? Do you honestly think you'll be happy without your work? Rutter's—"

"The baby will have to compensate for a good many things, I guess," she said significantly. She was feeling sorry for herself. She was too young to depend on a baby for happiness. She wanted a husband—and a husband's love. She wanted the feeling of unity that comes from a happy marriage. The feeling that they were going forward together and building a common stronghold against the world. A baby wouldn't be enough—and yet it would have to be.

Jim drew a letter from his pocket. "I've been keeping this for a week, Penny. I hated to give it to you at the hospital."

THE letterhead read, John P. Rutter, Inc. It was for her, addressed to Penny Martin. "It's from Mr. Rutter himself," she murmured. "Listen to this: 'We are more than delighted with the changes you made.'" She stopped. "What on earth's the man talking about? I don't know what changes he's referring to." Jim was slowly tearing a pack of cigarettes to shreds. "'We landed the Milady Perfumes account without trouble'," she read on, "'due largely to the effective way you handled my hasty suggestions for the art work. Thank you for your splendid cooperation and come to this office at your convenience to discuss terms.' What's he mean—'hasty suggestions?' I sat there for four hours discussing the work with him. Has he gone crazy, do you think?"

Jim said, "I didn't get around to telling you, I guess. You see, the night you went to the hospital he called up and wanted a whole new layout. I went ahead with it under the circumstance. You don't mind, darling? You were pretty busy at the time."

"That's what you were doing that night—?" Penny was stunned. Then slowly, she began to feel as though a tremendous weight had been lifted from her shoulders and that she could breathe once again.

"Make them sign their shirts away," cried Penny.

"Sure. Rutter wanted the stuff right away. They had a conference scheduled with the Milady people for the next morning."

"And they didn't like the work I did?"

"Well—"

"Yes or no, Jim? Please, I have to know!"

"Why—it just didn't . . . Rutter said . . . You see—"

"Of course. I see" Penny tried to laugh at herself She had been regretting a career she didn't have. "They didn't like it. I thought that face thing was pretty bad myself. What a good artist I turned out to be!" she added bitterly.

"Oh, nonsense! Don't let it get you down. You were feeling bum and that affected your work. You can have this Milady contract for the asking. Rutter hasn't any idea that I did the stuff for you. Go on down there and sign up."

AND this, Penny thought, was the man she had accused of not being cooperative. She had been furious—ready to call her entire marriage off and a failure because he hadn't paced hospital floors in the time-honored fashion. He was ready to step aside for her. Of course, the contract was his. She had lost it. She had never thought of failure, and now it was here, somehow she didn't care. All she could think about was the fact that Jim had been unselfish and of his deep love for her.

"Darling," Penny said, "I've been a wretched flop as a partner."

"You have not," Jim argued.

But Penny shook her head. She decided she was going to be the best mother in the world. Here, at hand, was the job she alone could do. She'd try to make of Jim's son, she concluded, as fine a man as Jim was.

"I've been a rotten part-time wife," she told him softly, slipping her hand into his. "But I'm going to be a hundred per cent mother."

JIM kissed her and suddenly she knew without doubt at all that at last she had found the career at which she could not fail. "Get yourself down to Rutter's," she said, "and tell them the truth. Make them sign their shirts away. You've got a wife and son to support now—to say nothing of your mother's wedding expenses. Boy, you need money!"

Plans Are Launched for Scout Anniversary Week Program

Scout Troops, Cub Packs, and Explorer Posts of the Warren County Council, Boy Scouts of America, are now completing plans for an elaborate celebration of Boy Scout Anniversary week, Feb. 8 to 14, it was learned this morning from Gilbert M. Sanford, Director of the Council's Anniversary week program. Boy Scout week this year marks the 35th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America.

The Council's five-point program for the week is intended to provide a high peak period of interest for boys, their parents and friends, to show the public some of the values and work of the boys, create further interest in Scouting and Cubbing on the parts of parents and other adults in the communities, and to recruit new boys for membership in the various Troops and Cub Packs.

Fifteen Troops and Packs are planning for a Store Window exhibit, in their own neighborhoods. Each of the 41 units of the council has been urged to make a store window exhibit, and it is expected that many of the others will be making the location of their exhibits known at the local Scout office within the next few days. Each window will be observed by a committee of judges appointed by the camping and activities committee of the council and "Citations of Merit" will be awarded those which come up to a high standard, a possible 25 points being scored on each of the following: Attractiveness, Scoutcraft or Cubcraft work, Arrangements and Publicity Value.

Nineteen of the units have already indicated their plans for the Troop or Pack to participate in a Scout Sunday church service in their own churches. The boys will wear their uniforms and be accompanied by their leaders and members of their own Troop or Pack committees.

All Scouts and Cubs are being urged to wear their uniforms during Scout Week. The Troops and Packs are planning to invite new boys and men to their meetings.

Instead of a centralized "get-together program" for all of the Scouts and Cubs, the plan calls for a Father and Sons banquet or a parents night program staged by the leaders of each Troop or Pack, according to Mr. Sanford. At the present time, fourteen such affairs have been recorded at the Scout office.

All of the figures used above are merely a preliminary report, Pnit reports will be coming into the Scout office for the next few days, and a more complete picture of the extent of the Boy Scout Anniversary Week Program will be revealed as the February 8th opening date approaches.

LUDLOW

Ludlow, Jan. 29—The Luther League of Moriah church met on Thursday evening in the church parlors. Miss Edith Larson, vice-president, conducted the meeting which opened with a song followed by Scripture reading and prayer. Annual reports mere made by the president, secretary and treasurer. The annual election of officers followed: President—Robert Johnson, vice-president — David Swanson, secretary—Keith Gilfert, treasurer—Thomas Nelson, financial secretary—Joyce Wallin, pianist—Mrs. Algot Swanson, assistant pianist—Louise Nelson, pocket testament secretary—Edith Larson. It was decided to conduct a World Prayer Day Service on February 21st at 7:30 p. m. Luther League will be held on the fourth Thursday of every month. The following was given: Accordion solo—Mrs. Ed Wenstran, Reading—Mrs. Frank Alling, Vocal Solo—Louise Nelson, Reading — Mrs. John Johnson, Piano Solo—Paul Johnson, Remarks—Rev. Hans Pearson. Lunch was served at the close of the evening by a committee composed of Mrs. M. I. Jones, Mrs. Clyde Gilfert and Miss Linnea Swanson.

The Moriah Church Council held its organization meeting on January 25 at the church with the Rev. Hans Pearson conducting the meeting. The following officers were elected: Vice-chairman of Board—Gustav Olson, Secretary of Deacons—Ernest Swanson, Chairman of Trustees—Charles Lantz, Secretary of Trustees—Emil Nelson, Treasurer of Church—Clyde Gilfert, Financial Secretary of Church—John Johnson. It was decided to have a plan and estimate made of Sunday School room repair after which a decision will be made as to work to be done.

COMMUNITY

The Community Exhibit Committee meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Enoch Nelson on Thursday evening with fifteen in attendance. A tentative date was planned for the last week in February. Reports were made by the various chairmen as to progress made. The committee urges every person or family in the community to place something in this exhibit. There will be tables representing various countries particularly interesting to Ludlow, such as Italian, Swedish, Polish, English, German Yugo-Slavia Russian, etc. There will also be a table to contain articles of interest sent home by soldiers from all over the world—and there will be a table to contain old things of interest from Ludlow, elsewhere or of historic interest. Arrangements are being made for protection of valuable articles or of adticles which should not be touched. A short program suitable for the occasion is being prepared and decorations will correspond. A Community Cook Book is also being made which contains recipes from Ludlow people. There is to be no charge for attendance but a collection box will be placed at the door. The exhibit will be worth while and of interest to friends from out-of-town. Details will be given in full near the date of the exhibit.

The Ladies' Aid of the Covenant Mission Church was entertained by Mrs. Emil Erickson at her home on Thursday evening with a god attendance. The meeting was conducted by Mr. Emil Erickson. The following program was given: Reading—Connie Jean Erickson, Reading—Mrs. Ernest Carlson, Vocal Duet—Mrs. Victor Bergquist and Mrs. Gust E. Anderson, Reading—Emil Erickson, Reading—Helen Swanson, Reading—Ernest Carlson. Lunch was served by the hostess.

The Ludlow Bridge Club was entertained by Mrs. Melvin McCleary at her home on Thursday evening at a dessert-bridge. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. E. W. Johnson and Mrs. R. E. Wenstran. Guests were Mrs. Charles Hoover and Mrs. Albert Carlson.

Mrs. John Fox, Jr., the former Marjorie Winkler, was surprised on Friday evening at her home by many friends at a wedding shower at which she was given many lovely gifts. There were forty-two present including three guests

G. C. MURPHY CO.

Men and Women In the Service

French Family Represented In Many Types of Services

Mr. and Mrs. William French, formerly of Endeavor and now residing at Saybrook, have been informed that their youngest son, Pfc. Seaward R. French, has been promoted to the grade of corporal and has been awarded the Bronze Star and the Infantryman's Combat Medal.

Cpl. French is known to most of his friends as "SeeDee". He volunteered May 31, 1943, his birthday anniversary, and is now somewhere in France with the 63rd Division Anti-tank corps. He received his basic training at Camp Croft, S. C., later entering cadet unit at Maxwell Field, Ala. After three months there, he suffered a nervous breakdown and was returned to his old outfit at Camp Van Dorn, Miss. He went overseas on November 23, 1944.

Another son of the French's, Sgt. Gale Eugene, who is known as "Gene", enlisted in the Air Corps at Oil City September 13, 1941, and was sent to Wichita Falls, Texas. After several months there, he was transferred to Kelly Field, Texas, where he was a field lighter (electrician) for over two years. He was next sent to Spokane, Wash., in September, 1944, with the engineers, and in October was again transferred to an overseas replacement depot at Kearns, Utah. Going to the Hawaiian Islands, he was sent to Oahu in December, 1944, and since then has twice changed units, going from the engineers to the signal corps and then to a base squadron.

The oldest son of the family, Sgt. Gairld W., enlisted January 26, 1940, and received his training at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C. He was graduated from x-ray school in December, 1940, and transferred to California, where he remained until December 8, 1941. He has since seen duty as a medical attendant in transport in Java, India, Australia, South Africa, North Africa, New Guinea and the Philippines. In all, he has had 28 months of overseas service and January 26 marked his fifth year in service.

Also from the same family is S/Sgt. Eric Erickson, who made his home with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. French, before entering service with his cousin Gairld. He enlisted in January 26, 1940, and was also sent to Walter Reed Hospital. After this medical training, he was transferred to Camp Livingston, La., and went overseas in August, 1943, with the 303rd Station Hospital unit. Going to England, he is sull located there and is head of surgery. A picture sent home recently is evidence he is enjoying good health and his letters indicate he is doing well with his job.

These four boys are all grandsons of Mrs. Ida French, of East Hickory, who has plenty of reason for pride in her four family service stars.

Pvt. Anthony In New Role Of Santa Claus

A special news release from a U. S. troop carrier base in the European Theatre of Operations tells of an interesting action in which the principal figure is Pvt. Leon J. Anthony, whose children, Robert and Shirley, live at Pittsfield.

According to the port, Pvt. Anthony, who is son of Mr. and Mrs. John Anthony, of Greenville RD 3, played the role of Santa Claus this Christmas to by far the most grateful gift recipients in his experience.

Acting as "dropmaster", he participated in aerial re-supply flights flown by troop carrier aircraft to drop ammunition and other vitally needed supplies by parachute to isolated American units near Bostogne, Belgium.

As a result, the advantage the Germans had won by cutting off the troops from their supply lines was nullified and the Americans were able to fight their way to contact with other units, thus stemming the German advance in that sector.

Pvt. Anthony is by no means a beginner in this type of action, having also participated in re-supply missions during the invasions of France and Holland. During the latter invasion, he was forced to parachute to safety when his plane was struck by enemy ground fire. He has been overseas for 14 months.

He has two brothers also in service, S/Sgt. Edward, in the South Pacific, and Donald, in the Navy.

IS IN MIAMI

According to word received here from Miami Beach, Fla., 1st Lt. Floyd C. Peck, 25, of Warren, has arrived at the AAF Predistribution Center No. 2 at that place for reassignment processing after completing a year of duty outside the continental United States. Lt. Peck flew 50 missions as navigator on a B-24 Liberator heavy bomber in the European theatre of operations, for which he was awarded the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters and, for wounds received in combat, the Purple Heart. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Peck, 3 Malvina street.

Word was received by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Abramson, 403 W. Main, Sheffield, that their son Cpl. Everett (Chippy) Abramson is in Luxembourg. He has received seven stars for the battles he has been in. Three of them being Battle of Normandy, Battle Argentan and Liberation of City Chalons, France. "Chippy" has been in service for 22 months, being across 15 months. His uncle, Pvt. Richard Santer, wounded in France June 20 and is now stationed at Crile Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio.

The water allowance in U. S. Army camps is 100 gallons per capita daily.

Talc, the basis for face powder, has important war uses.

Tidioute Man Commended For SKD Duty

Mrs. W. K. McClelland, of Tidioute, has received the following self-explanatory communication from the disbursing officer, Carcier Aircraft Service Unit 66, concerning advancement in rating to storekeeper (disbursing) first class of her son, Daniel W. McClelland, USNR:

"The subject named man was stationed at this activity for 15 months, and, during this period, through his diligent efforts and initative, he has become thoroughly trained in all phases of disbursing.

"For the past year, McClelland has been in charge of the crew accounts of all squadrons at this unit. In handling the squadron accounts, which are extremely difficult and demand the utmost in accuracy, willingness and reliability, McClelland's performance was particularly distinguished.

"McClelland displayed excellent leadership and initiative while with this activity, and he is undoubtedly qualified to perform the duties of a storekeeper (disbursing) first class. He has been a SKD 2/c since 1 February 1944 and he has not been advanced solely because no vacancy has existed in this office's complement of SKD 1/c. His transfer is indeed regretted, except that it may offer opportunities for advancement, which he certainly deserves".

Allen J. Dean Commissioned USNR Ensign

Ensign Allen J. Dean, home on leave after his graduation Janury 23, at the U. S. Naval Training Base at Pensacola, Fla., will leave this week to visit his mother, Mrs. Corinne Dean, now in Chicago, Ill., before reporting to his new assignment in New Orleans, La. He will attend instructors' school at the Naval Air Station there for several months.

Ensign Dean was graduated from Warren High School and attended Cornell University. He enlisted for naval air training June 24, 1942, while employed in New York City, and he was called in May, 1943, to attend naval preparatory schcol at the University of Pennsylvania.

Completing that course, he went to war training school at Lock Haven and then to pre-flight school at Chapel Hill, N. C. His next phase of training was at Glenview, Ill., Naval Air Station, after which he was transferred to the Naval Air Training Base at Pensacola.

He was commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve and designated a naval aviator last week at the NATB at Pensacola, known at the Annapolis of the Air.

APPEARS IN PRINT

Under the title "Winged Victory" Set, a publication currently on the newstands contains an article interviewing service men on the subject of Hollywood and the following paragraph of interest locally appears therein:

"It's silly to talk in generalities about Hollywood because the place defies you," observed Cpl. Clint Wilder, 24-year-old Warren, Pennsylvania boy, and a modern languages and literature major at Princeton before joining the Air Corps." In the same way, you can't apply big city rules to it because, despite its size, wealth and importance, it's basically a rural town. My first impression was of awe and wonder at the complete casualness and easy lives of the people out here. Later I realized that casualness was a surface thing, probably engendered by a sense of importance. The girls are wonderful party girls—gay, well-dressed playmates—but the inevitable discovery of their lack of depth is depressing. And it's baffling, the way everyone is violently on the defensive lest you do not like the place or find something to criticize".

RADIO SCHOOL

From Sioux Falls Army Air Field in South Dakota comes news that Aviation Cadet Donald W. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Johnson, Warren RD 1, has been assigned to the AAF Training Command radio school at that place for "on the line" training while awaiting shipment to pre-flight school for aviation cadet training. He enlisted in the AAF on March 10, 1944.

Master Sergeant James C. Thompson has returned to the army air base at Florence, S. C., after spending two weeks furlough with his wife and children in Clarendon and with his parents at Wilcox over the past weekend.

Pvt. John J. Shanshala has been raised to the grade of private first class at Selfridge Field, Mich., AAF base, according to word received from there today. Pfc. Shanshala, whose home here is at 20 Locust street, has been in the army since October 15, 1943.

Personal Paragraphs

Promotions of Mary A. O'Connor, commanding officer, and Esther Potts, recruiting officer at the Erie WAC Recruiting office, to ranks of first lieutenants were celebrated Saturday night at a dinner attended by all personnel of the Erie WAC quarters. Both officers have been coming to Warren on recruiting missions for the last six months and have a host of friends in this section.

Mildred Nollinger, 7 Jackson avenue, left Tuesday morning for Seattle, Wash., to join her husband, Pfc. Ernest A. Nollinger, recently returned to this country after 21 months overseas.

Friends here have learned that S. A. Reed, long-time employe of the Warren Gear Products Company, has been critically ill at the home of his daughter, 385 West 154th street, New York, but is now on the way to a satisfactory recovery.

Miss Laura K. Snyder, 712 Pennsylvania avenue, west, was taken to Warren General Hospital Wednesday after she had fallen down a flight of stairs at her home. X-rays showed her right arm had been fractured and a cast was applied. A laceration on her lip was also treated and she was discharged. It will be recalled that some months ago her sister, Miss Anna, received a bad fracture in a fall downstairs and was in an Erie hospital for several weeks.

CHURCH REVIVALS

AT YOUNGSVILLE
FREE METHODIST

The revival meeting now in progress in Youngsville Free Methodist church is reported increasing in interest and attendance. Rev. L. J. Lindsey, evangelist, is able, interesting and forceful speaker, and his messages have proved timely and effective. He preaches each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Free Methodist District rally begins today, ministers and laymen of the district gathering for the services. On Sunday, three services will be held: Sabbath school at 9:15 a. m., Love Feast at 9:45 and preaching at 11. In the afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock, the Young People's Missionary Society will have charge and hold a public missionary meeting, engaging Mrs. Claudia Jacobs, of Ellwood City, as guest speaker. The closing service will be held at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. Rev. Lindsey, who is district superintendent, will have charge of all these services.

Obituary

Unless otherwise stated, visiting hours at Warren's funeral homes are from 10 a. m. to 12; 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

S. R. BONNELL

Samuel Russell Bonnell passed away at his home, 618 Prospect street, at 4 p. m. Wednesday, aged 61 years. He was born in Waterville, Pa., September 27, 1883. He was a member of Grace Methodist church and of Warren Lodge, No. 109, Loyal Order of Moose.

Besides his wife, Gertrude, he leaves three brothers, Norman L. and Roy A., of Warren; Harry, of Jersey Shore.

Services in his membory will be held from the family home at 3 p. m. Saturday, conducted by Rev. Harold Knappenberger and followed by interment in Oakland cemetery.

GEORGE ENGLE

Final rites in memory of George Engle, of Rogers Mills, will be held from the Lutz Funeral Home at 2:30 p. m. Friday, conducted by Rev. S. R. Schieb, pastor of Salem Evangelical church, and followed by interment in Oakland cemetery.

SAMUEL WALTERS

A requiem mass will be celebrated at ten o'clock Friday morning in St. Joseph's church in memory of Samuel Walters, 317 Morrison street, and interment will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery. The parish rosary will be recited at the family home at eight o'clock this evening.

MRS. KATE HALL

Funeral services in memory of Mrs. Kate Hall were held from her home at Russell at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by John A. VanOrsdale. Interment was made in Pine Grove cemetery with Mr. VanOrsdale, Arthur Fehlman, George Wood, Clarence Akeley, Henry Sears, Ernest Stanton acting as bearers. Two hymns, "When the Mists Have Rolled Away" and "Someday He'll Make it Plain," were sung by Bernice Barstow and Barbara Perrigo, with Norine Holt at the piano.

Attending the rites from out of town were Robert Chase, of Warren, and Mrs. Helen Chase, North Warren.

MRS. ALICE D. NEWMAKER

Services in memory of Mrs. Alice Davis Newmaker were held from her home, 3 Conewango Place, at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by the reader from the First Church of Christ, Scientist. Interment was made in Youngsville cemetery with the following acting as bearers: J. B. Leidig, O. J. Groves, Ernest Johnson, Richard Welch, John Knapp and William M. Hill.

Those who came from out of town to attend the rites were Mr. and Mrs. L. Rex Babbitt, Mrs. Hazel Yount, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Welch, Erie; Miss Patricia N. Knapp, Wellesley, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Max Davis, Mrs. Dorothy Baumgardner and Mrs. Alice Streeter, Youngsville.

REV. JOHN PAUL SHELLEY

Erie, Feb. 1—The Rev. John Paul Shelley, 84, a retired Presbyterian minister, who was formerly pastor of the Chestnut Street Presbyterian church, died Wednesday morning in the Presbyterian Hospital and Home, Cambridge Springs, following an extended illness.

He fell in the lobby of the Lawrence Hotel April 1, 1943, and broke his hip, from which he never fully recovered.

Ordained into the ministry in 1886 at Warren, he served as pastor at Warren, Kane, Canastora, N. Y., Woodlawn, Pa., and in Erie.

He is survived by his son, P. C. Cunningham; a brother, Rawley D. Shelley, of Franklin, and several nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the Chester A. Schaal funeral home, 550 West Ninth street, after Thursday noon, and are invited to attend services there at 2 p. m. Saturday. Dr. Ralph C. McAfee will be in charge of the services. Interment will be in Beaver cemetery, Beaver, Pa.

MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

CONBOY SENDS PAPER

Gerald Conboy, former officer of the Warren police force who used to patrol the avenues is now patroling on the Admiralty Islands with Uncle Sams forces. He sent home a copy of the newspaper issued by his outfit. It is a memeograph affair and contains news of the men in the outfit and their doings. Illustrated with drawings, the paper is interesting. Conboy is now rated as a Seaman 1/c, No. 924-09-40, ABCD, U. S. Navy 3205, Hut 21, Care of the Fleet Post office, San Francisco, Colif.

Robert F. Cable, seaman second class, is home on seven-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Cable, 310 Park street, after having completed his boot training at Sampson, N. Y., naval training station.

It will interest friends to know that 1st Lt. John S. Stewart, son of Major and Mrs. Paul B. Stewart, has been transferred from the ASF Regional Hospital at Fort Ord, Calif., to the 308th General Hospital at Fort Lewis, Wash.

VALLEY GROUP MEETING TONIGHT

Valley Grange will meet this evening in the hall, when the program will be in the form of a box social, and extends a welcome to all Grangers.

Coal's Scarce in France . . .

. . . and in the Good Old U. S. A.

Brownout Is Given Preview In Many Places Last Evening

Warren last evening got a preview of the "brown-out" which went into full effect last night. Many store windows were unlighted and only the small lights left burning in the stores were to be seen. One or two merchants had evidently forgotten to turn out their lights and these stores stood out like lighthouses on the darkened streets.

The Penelec yesterday in a large advertisement in The Times-Mirror gave details of rules to be observed in compliance wiht the orders of the government and all should scan that advertisement.

Street lights will not be affected although their intensity may be cut down slightly later. However all display signs must be dimmed out and the big flood lights which have played upon the Times-Mirror office will be casualties of the order.

Everyone is asked to conserve electricity not only in stores and factories but also in homes and useless expenditure of light will be reflected in the use of coal. The larger share of the current used by Penelec in this city is generated at Oil City.

Warren Missed Full Sweep Of Blizzard Hitting This Area

Warren sheltered as it is by hills on all sides yesterday missed the full sweep of the blizzard which hit this area and to the north yesterday. Although there was considerable wind accompanying the one and one-half inch of snow which fell traffic in the city was little interfered with and there was no tie-up or severe tangles.

The highway department met with some difficulty keeping the main highways open outside of the borough due to the formation of drifts and buses were late in getting into the city and trains were running late. Train 581 from the east today was one hour and 55 minutes late and the east bound train from Erie was an hour and 40 minutes late in pulling out of Erie. Bus schedules today are toppling as Buffalo and the Pittsburgh sections are battling snow. In Buffalo many schools are closed and theaters may be closed. The Mayor of the city is setting temperatures for homes and office buildings by proclamation to conserve fuel which is scarce. Erie also has a fuel scarcity and traffic there is again tied up effectually.

There were no morning papers in the city this morning due to the traffic snarls on the highways shutting off traffic of buses and trucks on which the papers are carried.

Merrill Jordan, U. S. Official Observer here announces that during the month of January the snowfall reached 32 inches which was only three inches less than that which fell in December with its record snow storm.

In neighboring Chautauqua county the department of highways appealed to all persons to stay off the highways with their cars due to road conditions, many schools were closed and six children stranded in a school bus near Bemus Point were cared for at homes and their parents notified. Buffalo has many schools closed and Cassadaga schools and the Cattaraugus High School were also closed.

The New York Central railroad is endeavoring to keep its line open but is meeting ill success. Trains are being operated on belated schedules from Titusville to beyond Falconer but the road is unable to get through to Dunkirk.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

The new postal notes were placed on sale at the postoffice this morning. The fee for the note is five cents and are issued in denominations from $1 to $10 and the stamps are in denominations of from one to ten cents and from 10 to 90 cents. There is no limit to the number of notes that may be purchased at any one time.

SHOW FOR KIDDIES

Sunday afternoon at the Marconi Outing Club a special performance will be staged for the kiddies. A good program has been arranged and the little folk will doubtless enjoy a lot of fun with Emmett Kelly, the famous circus clown. All children are invited and the children at the Hoffman Home have been extended an invitation. There will be plenty of fun and a general good time for all little folk who attend.

BEVEVINO LEAVING CLUB

Joe Bevevino who has been handling affairs at the Marconi Outing Club has resigned his position there. Mr. Bevevino has won much success by the booking in the best balanced shows that have ever been seen at the club and his universal courtesy to patrons have won for him much esteem among the 2300 members of the organization. Just who will succeed him has not been announced. He will finish his work Saturday evening and for his farewell presentation has one of the best floor shows to be seen at the club this year. Emanuel, the juggler, has a wonder act, the McNally Sisters with songs and dances please, Danny Ross as master of ceremonies scores and Emmett Kelly, famous clown is teh big hit that he was last week.

Activities of Interest To Next of Kin

A meeting for relatives of prisoners of war has been scheduled at Red Cross Headquarters Tuesday evening, February 13th, at 7:30 o'clock. All persons having relatives listed as prisoners of war or missing in action are cordially invited to attend this session.

American Repatriated Prisoners of War from Germany, and escapeees from Japanese prison camps will address a Next of Kin meeting in Kleinhans Music Hall in Buffalo on Wednesday, February 7th, at 7:30 p. m.

The meeting will undoubtedly be full of interest and information for you. Some of these men have been interned in as many as eight or nine prison camps and various hospital installations.

If you or your friends wish to go, will you call Red Cross Headquarters, before Monday, February 5, 1945. Special arrangements are being made to seat the next of kin by camps.

IRVINE

Irvine, Jan. 30—On Saturday, Jan. 13—Mrs. Harry Johnson and daughter Kathleen left on the morning flyer for Alexandria, Louisiana, to visit their son and brother Richard. They are expected home soon.

Harry Johnson is confined to his home with rheumatism in one knee.

Joseph Tettio Jr., is home on a furlough after his terrible experience of the plane he was in crashing into the ocean. Five were killed and seven saved and he was one of the seven saved after struggling in the water eighteen hours. Some of them had their shoes taken off by the sharks. He lost his watch, fountain pen and all his belongings. It is an experience they will not care to go through again.

On Sunday Jan. 21 the Huckabone family of this place attended a family gathering at Russell City about thirty five miles from here, where William Huckabone's children all went to school. The gathering was in honor of Harry Huckabone who is home on a furlough from Honolulu and another one who is soon to go. There were over 60 present and all enjoyed the day, Harvey Huckabone left last evening to return to Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wing and Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Nulph and son are to attend a birthday dinner this evening in honor of their son and brother Clifford Wing at his home on High street, Youngsville, recently purchased from Percy Kay.

The Oingley family who had the misfortune recently to lose their home by fire are now settled in the Eva Thompson home on Buckaloon street. This was Mrs. Oingley's former home when a child.

Last fall J. J. Myers resigned his position as postmaster here and Mrs. Marion Robertson is the new postmistress and Carl Kennedy has been the assistant as he was with Mr. Myers recently he has resigned and Betty Stewart is now the assistant. She resigned her place at the Sylvania in Warren to accept this and be home with her parents.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

H. J. Rue of the New Process Company who has his habitat at Barnes this week informed that "if Devere Kirberger wants to see some cardinals and bluejays he should come out where they really are." Which led that rival of Baron Maunchausen Ed Bimber to remark that while out at a camp on Scandia he saw a bluejay flying along with a strawberry in his mouth . . . Ah, me that lake which burns with fire and brimstone is waiting for someone . . . Reports from Clarendon wirelessed in say that Postmaster Jim Schmonsky was stepping high on his way to the PO and it wasn't on account of the deep snow either. He had just learned that he was grandpa for the first time . . . Leo King, working in Chicago writes that Merritt L. Johnson, born in Warren is also employed on the same paper . . . Frank Clemons in the hospital since last August due to go home almost any day now . . . . Civilians face a cut of 2,300,000 cases of canned fruit and about 16,000,000 cases of canned vegetables during the fiscal year beginning July 1 as a result of sharply increased military requirements. Better lay some plans for a whopping big victory garden . . . Cigarette shortage increasing and even the boys who have been peddling them for three bucks are finding themselves out of luck on getting a supply. . . . George Daum and his chow dog, one and inseparable . . . Handkerchiefs for men are also war casualties. Cotton varities selling to 75c and not too good cotton at that. Well we still have two sleeves . . . A few winters like this one and public demand would see that the borough got a few motor power sidewalk cleaners. . . . Work is progressing so rapidly on the new osteopathic hospital that it should be ready for occupancy within a few weeks. . . . After tomorrow the Old Groundhog will have done his worst, or best. Which will it be? . . . Doc Haines is modest about shooting an arrow so darned far but he says it isn't how long an arrow is, its how you shoot it. . . . Things somehow equalize, the railroad has plenty of cinders and the highway department needs them. . . . Lot of motorists might remember that driving on sidewalks is still against a city ordinance . . .

A report from last week's meeting of the Republican National committee in Indianapolis said that Mrs. Worthington Scranton, of Scranton, Pa., one of Pennsylvania's two members of the National committee, again wore orchids all during the GOP gathering. The orchids have been the point of argument of many Republican leaders, who are of the opinion that ginghams would have attracted more votes than orchids, especially in wartime and depression years. . . Hear that the GOP in this county is not making any changes in its set up to be presented to the voters at the primaries due to war conditions.

C. C. Johnson, senior member of the Youngsville Lumber firm of C. C. Johnson and Son has the first bank book which he received from the Youngsville Savings Bank and the first entries in the book were made April 29, 1895 when as a young man he deposited $10 and opened an account That was back in the days whe nthe banks were looking for folks with $10 to open accounts and no charges were made for checks and other services.

The bank book of 50 years ago shows some difference from one of today and on one side of the page it shows the amount of deposits and on the other the name of the person to whom a check was made out and the amount. The first check in Mr. Johnson's book was made out to Blair and Downey, of Corry. That firm is not in existence and both of the members of the firm are dead. In fact, Mr. Johnson says that 225 firm names to whom checks were drawn there is now only one firm on the list still active and that is the Atlantic Refining Company.

Mr. Johnson is still doing business with the Youngsville Savings Bank, now the Youngsville National Bank, and he told Messrs. Beckenback and Spencer of the bank recently when he showed them the old book that he was still the banks best and worst customer. The best, because he was a long continued customer of the bank and the worst because he occasionally overdrew his account. Mr. Johnson says that in thinking back over his long continued banking experience that there were times when he could have borrowed $10,000 and then there were times when he could not have borrowed 10 cents.

The Youngsville Bank in which Mr. Johnson made his first $10 deposit was located in the Swanson Block about where the Woodnell Dress Shop is now located. Miss Callie Mead was the book-keeper and among her duties was to record in the bank book in her fine writing the amounts deposited and also to write in to whom the checks were drawn. Only two persons are now living to whom personal checks were given as shown in the old book, vix., C. S. Mead, now retired and living in Youngsville and John Sheldon, who is still conducting a lumber mill in Youngsville.

SPORT NEWS

Behind the Lines

The Irvine National Forge management has announced plans for the 1945 baseball season at Wilder Field. Officials state that all the players who were seen in the '44 season would be on the field, with the exception of Emmy Morrison, probably the finest diamond star in the section, suffered a collapsed lung and will be unable to play. However, he will probably assist in managing the club. You can bet that, if there is no pleasure driving ban, the Forge games will attract the largest crowds ever.

Football prospects at the Youngsville High School for the next season are the best in years, according to Mentor Robert Jewell. Bob expects nine veteran lettermen to be back for competition and hopes to equal, if not better, last year's team.

Elmo Wolfe, who will be remembered as one of the finest athletes in Warren and who is now in service, is home on a furlough from his paratrooper duties. Elmo says that he has his best season on the diamond down south, batting .377 for the service team. He played on the same club as Roy Weatherbee, former Cleveland Indian and New York Yankee star.

When this war is over, there will be a tremendous boom in auto racing. Jimmy Wilburn, world's champion dirt track auto driver, says that behind the wheels of service jeeps is being developed the greatest collection of daredevil racing drivers in history. "What about boxing?" Commander was asked. "No," says the chief of the coast guard physical fitness program, "there are no real good boxing men that I've observed in this war. It takes three or four years to develope a topnotch fighter." Dempsey, in an interview with a Miami sports writer, said that sports must go on, no matter what happens.

The Warren Hockey League resumes action again Sunday afternoon on the Beaty ice with two games slated. The leabue, which was started by the Committee on Community Recreation, is rapidly increasing its interest, with about 200 fans attending last week's encounters. At 2 o'clock Sunday, Johnny Ward's six takes on Duckett's crew, and at 3 o'clock, Mellanders and Munchs will clash. Dix Hines, baseball moundsman and basketball official, has been secured to officiate the games. Hines, in his youth, played a great deal of hockey in the New England states, and is still playing. Last week, Bud Wyer's Pleasant Township iceman defeated the Johnson sextet, 8-5, in the first game and Massa forfeited to Mellanders in the second game.

The revised schedule of the YWCA Girls' cage loop will be in use tomorrow night with New Process and Sylvania opening hostilities at 7 o'clock. The second battle will bring together the Thomas Coupling sextet and the Struthers Wells six. There are now five teams in the league, Sylvania plant No. 2 re-entering the loop.

The top place teams in the YMCA City cage loop play tonight in battles which may upset the league standing. At 7:30, Nick Creola's National Forge five takes on the Baker aggregation, and at 8:30, the Struthers Wells quint tangles with the Sylvania crew.

The Forge and Struthers are both out to remain in the top notch posts, but their opponents are set to score upsets in the loop which would drop them out of first place. Manager Creola, of the National Forge, is hopeful that his five can remain unbeaten in the first half, and will start his five regulars. Wright and Giegerich will be at the forward positions, Aumer at center, and Fred Beyer and Manager Creola at the two guard posts. For the Bakers, Toyer and Tucker will take over the forward spots, with Harrington at center and McGarry and Taylor starting at the guards. The Baker five, made up of high school boys, have an advantage of speed over the veteran Forge crew, but the Irvineites expect to use their shooting skills to chalk up another win.

In the Struthers-Sylvania contest, Red Swanson, Struthers manager, is expected to start with Bob Chase and Willard Zerbe at guards, Allie Lord at center, and Dick Finley, ex-high school performer and Ted Kaminski at forwards. The strong ironworkers' crew may be upset tonight if the Sylvanians hit a hot streak. Dick Schumacher, who starred for the local high school, as well as professional teams a number of years ago, has taken over the reigns of the electricians and will probably put Hand and Billy Massa at forwards, Don Bjers at center, and Roy Juusola and Book at the guard posts.

Wolves Trim Sheffield Five, 35-33, at Kane

Kane High School's basketeers copped the first round of the District Nine championship Tuesday night, downing the Sheffield Wolverines, 35-33, on the Kane hardwood. Thmopson paced the Wolves with 11 markers and Otto was high for the Sheffielders with 13. Lineups:

Ludlow Quint Revenges First Bernie Defeat

John Gaynor's Ludlow High School cagers revenged their 29-22 defeat at the hands of the Bradford St. Bernard quint last Friday night by soundly trouncing the Bernies on the Ludlow court Tuesday night, 40-24. Johnny Mcyak paved the way for the Ludlow victory with 10 field goals and two charity tosses to total 22 points. For the Bernies, Karenzo put in nine markers.

Tapering - Off Process Five Yrs. for Dodds

Los Angeles, Feb. 1—(AP)—Gil Dodds, the pacing parson, may be through as a competitive runner, but it will take five years for him to taper off from the strenuous conditioning process that made him America's No. 1 distance star.

Dodds was en route today to Dallas to resume his youth evangelist mission. He completed a week of these meetings in Los Angeles before his departure. His life, he says, is to be devoted to nondenominational religious work, with emphasis on youth and its problems.

Galloping Gilbert had several workouts in the big Los Angeles Memorial Stadium while here and ran a quarter mile in 51.5, the fastest of his life.

The medicos have told Dodds, who was graduated recently from a Boston Theological school, that he can't quit running altogether. The human heart, complex machine that it is, must be slowed down gradually.

New York State Legislature Steps Into Cage Affair; Jury Returns Conspiracy Charge

By JOE REICHLER

Brooklyn, Feb. 1.—(AP)—With New York' state's legislature lending a legal hand, as far as the Empire State is concerned, basketball officials and other interested sportsmen throughout the nation today renewed their efforts to stamp out widespread gambling on games which one source estimated ran as high as $10,000,000 weekly.

While a Kings county grand jury returned yesterday conspiracy indictment against two men charged with bribing five Brooklyn College basketball players, the state legislature received two bills directly connected with gambling on sports contests.

Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson introduced a bill to amend the penal law which would make amateur athletes liable to fines up to $1,000 and imprisonment for one to five years. The present law applies only to professionals.

Also introduced in the legislature was a bill amending the penal code to make the offering of a bribe to an amateur athlete a felony, instead of a misdemeanor. A person found guilty of a felony is subject to 10 to 20 years imprisonment, whereas a misdemeanor is punishable by only one to two years.

Accused in the Kings county grand jury indictment were Harvey Stenmer and Henry Rosen, confessed bookmakers, who were charged with conspiring to "defraud the public" by bribing five Brooklyn College players to throw a game against Akron University of Ohio, scheduled at Boston last night. The game was cancelled.

No charges were placed against Bernard Barnett, Larry Pearlstein, Robert Leder, Jerry Green and Stanley Simon, the Brooklyn players, although they were named in the indictment as co-conspirators and will appear as witnesses when the case comes up before County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz on Feb. 13.

The five players, already dropped from the school team, face possible sterner punishment today. The Brooklyn College faculty student athletic board was to meet this morning to decide on action. Leder is a member, as well as president of the college athletic association, but will not sit in at the meeting.

WELL KNOWN HEALTH EXPERT IS A SUICIDE

Kansas City, Feb. 1—(AP)—Dr. Logan Clendening, 60, who gave daily health hints to an estimated 50,000,000 readers in a syndicated newspaper column, became so despondent over his own failing health yesterday that he took his life.

Benton Tibbs, a detective in the homicide bureau, said Dr. Clendening had slashed his left wrist and cut his jugular vein. The body of the wealthy physician, clad in blue silk pajamas, was found in his shade-darkened bedroom. There was no note, but he had told friends recently that he feared he was suffering from leukemia, a disease for which there is no known cure.

JEFFERSON SNOWED IN

Punxsutawney, Feb. 1—(AP)—High winds and zero cold gave Jefferson county another bitter taste of winter today. About three inches of snow fell overnight, roads were clogged by drifts, and school buses in various parts of the county were stopped.

ATTRACTING ATTENTION

A number of hell divers in the Conewango creek have been getting much attention during the past few days. The birds swim about in the open water and clamber out on the ice apparently enjoying life. Ice has formed in the creek above the high board fence but from that point to teh mouth there is mostly open water a fact which puzzles many of the observers.

CRAWFORD SENTENCED

John Crawford, attendant at the Warren State Hospital arrested for the larceny of articles from patients, valued under $10 was sentenced by Justice Tracy Greenlund Wednesday. He will pay a fine of $5, costs of $9.25 and serve seven days in the county jail. Restitution of the stolen articles must also be made.

GOOD JOB DONE

Adjutant Brandenburg, of the Salvation Army and the Red Cross have done a good job in arranging a recreation room for the guards at the Bull Hill camp of German War Prisoners. There are now 30 guards at the camp and time hangs heavily on their hands up on the bleak mountain top. The recreation room has been fitted up with many games and some comfortable furniture and considerable reading matter. There is still room for games and reading matter and anyone having such articles should get in contact with the Adjutant. Bradford is taking care of the Red Bridge camp near Kinzua, and is making an effort to provide features such as are enjoyed at Bull Hill at the camp there.

Personal Paragraphs

Mrs. John H. Hogg and daughter Kathryn, 15 West Fifth avenue, have returned from Atlantic City, where they visited Capt. John Hogg at England General Hospital.

J. Edward Nicholson is spending a few days in Buffalo on business.

Mrs. Clarence Loney has returned after spending three months in Casper, Wyoming. She was accompanied by Cpl. and Mrs. Dale Geer and son, Barton. Cpl. Geer will stay until about February 15th when he will report to his base and his wife and baby will spend some time with Mrs. Geer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loney. Mrs. Loney reports that sometimes it got to be 25 degrees below zero in Wyoming and that she is prepared for the winter she found on her return home.

State Senator L. E. Chapman and Assemblyman Allen Gibson, of Sheffield arrived home this morning after attending the sessions of the legislature held at Harrisburg this week. Both report that much progress is being made in handling the many bills that have been presented although there still remains much to be done.

Fire Chief Charles Alabaugh was stricken with an attack of ptomaine poisoning at his home yesterday and for some time he was a very sick man. The attending physician now pronounces him out of danger.

Mrs. S. G. Forslund and daughter Jean left for Barberton, Ohio, where she will join her husband and make their future home.

ville and that all roads north of Ebensburg were closed.

Oil City, Feb. 1—(AP)—The southbound Buffalo-Pittsburgh passenger train arrived here five hours and 10 minutes late today, with the locomotive looking more like a snowplow than an engine.

Thirty-six passengers had their breakfasts at the expense of the Pennsylvania Railroad while the weather-beaten locomotive was being exchanged for a fresh one. The train also brought home a number of St. Joseph's high school students who were snowed in last night while attending a basketball game at Titusville.

For the sixth time this winter, 80 per cent of Venango county's rural roads were blocked by snow. The county has had 60 inches of snow since December 1, including 20.5 inches in January.

(From Page One)

Along the entire eastern front from Konigsberg, in East Prussia, to Budapest, the Hungarian capital, the Russians reported successes.

Marshal Stalin, in an order of the day, announced the capture of Friedland and Heilsburg, south and southwest of Konigsberg. Soviet shells continued to fall in the streets of Konigsberg as the Russians tightened the squeeze on German forces now holding about one-fifth of East Prussia.

POSTAL NOTE ON SALE

Washington, Feb. 1—(AP)—The postal note, a simplified and cheaper form of money order, went on sale today in 1,800 first-class post-offices. Its use, for the present, is limited to the sending of sums between one cent and $10. The uniform service charge is a nickel.

Eerie Silence Covers Nazi Guns on Line

ings north and south of Strasbourg also began to collapse, reflecting a weakening of the enemy along the whole western front.

Allied planes spotted heavy German rail movements eastward from Karlsruhe and Mannheim and through Heilbronn, indicating a further thinning of German defenses. Roads north of Wissembourg, above the U. S. 7th Army front, were jammed.

The Colmar pocket was steadily being reduced from north and south. Colmar itself (46,000) was outflanked and American and French troops were close to the Colmar-Breisach road leading to the only permanent Rhine bridge standing in the Strasbourg sector. Street fighting progressed in Cernay; Wittelsheim fell. Gambsheim and Bettenhofen, north of Strasbourg, were captured and the Allies moved to within two miles of the river.

At Field Marshal Montgomery's headquarters in the north, a spokesman for the 21st army group said the battle has developed into a general attack all along the western front toward the Siegfried line. He expressed doubt, however, that the Germans would yield the fortifications without a hard fight. A 35-mile section of the line has been captured by American arms along the Roer river north of the Monschau area.

Seven First Army divisions smote the west wall from positions mostly inside Germany. Four or more Third Army divisions were on the attack in a seven-mile Our river bridgehead southeast of St. Vith and along the German-Luxembourg border.

A considerable change to milder temperatures and steadily falling rain washed snow from the forests and hills and left only white patches on a black background, which two days ago had been solid white. Roads became double lanes of rushing rivulets of slush.

The Siegfried line heavy concrete pillboxes were built in 1938 and now are outmoded by improved assault weapons. Where natural obstacles are plentiful, the Siegfried line works are sparse. Where terrain is level, as many as 500 or 600 pillboxes dot a square mile.

French troops apparently set up the Colmar garrison for the kill by punching to points where they could dominate the main highway connecting the city with the Rhine river bridge at Breisach. On the south edge of the Colmar pocket French troops, assisted by the U. S. Third and 28th Divisions, partly by-passed Cernay and Wittelsheim, where the Germans have been putting up a stiff fight.

Allied troops yesterday took without opposition the village of Gambsheim, eight miles northeast of Strasbourg and about two miles from the Rhine.

Troops of the U. S. First and Third Armies, many clad in snow camouflage suits, were pushing forward through rain and slush along a 40-mile section of the Siegfried line.

NO COAL DELIVERY FOR PLACES OF AMUSEMENT

Philadelphia, Feb. 1.—Delivery of coal to places of amusement has been banned here under a "state of emergency" order issued yesterday by Mayor Bernard Samuel.

Included under the ban, occasioned by a critical fuel shortage, are all theaters, dance halls, gymnasiums, arcades, bowling alleys and pool rooms. Cafes and bar rooms escape because they are classified as eating places.

The order allows delivery of enough fuel to prevent damage to plumbing.

Effort to Delay Vote on Nomination

sideration, giving Wallace's opponents a second chance to bring the nomination up at once.

Majority Leader Barkley (Ky) told a Democratic senatorial conference today he wants action on Henry Wallace's nomination deferred until congress can divest the commerce department of its lending agencies.

Senator Walsh (D-Mass), emerging from the closed meeting, told reporters Barkley had said he desired the Wallace appointment kept on the senate's calendar until the George bill is passed and signed.

This measure, by Senator George (D-Ga), would transfer the RFC and other lending agencies to an independent federal loan administration.

Walsh said enough members seemed willing to vote for Wallace after the George bill is passed—but not before—to lead him to guess that the nomination eventually might be confirmed. Walsh is listed among Wallace's opponents.

Wallace opponents, however, believe they had the votes to block him even before the lending-curtailment legislation is taken up. They planned therefore to move that the nomination be the first order of business.

THREATENS PRISONER

Camden, N. J., Feb. 1—(AP)—"I'll kill him," shouted Daniel Chew of Camden in police court here yesterday as he lunged toward a man charged with attacking Chew's wife and attempting to attack five other women. Court attendants halted Chew's rush down the aisle and forced him back into his seat and the hearing of Reid DuBose, 31, of Philadelphia, charged with rape, was continued. DuBose was held without bail.

Doctor Haines Wins Honors As Ace Archer

Dr. F. G. Haines, of this city, has won outstanding honor as an archer in the shooting that was done last October. He has been made a member of the Wing Club of the National Archery Association with headquarters in Boston, Mass. This is an exclusive society of archers and only those who shoot an arrow a long distance are eligible. Last year only three men out of all who took part in the flights held over the United States qualified for membership. Dr. Haines shot an arrow further than any other man of his age in the United States sending an arrow winging 397 yards and two feet.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Haines are ardent devotees of archery and took part in the District Flight Tournament conducted by the Lakewood Club at Fredonia, N. Y. last October. In the shoot at Fredonia Dr. and Mrs. Haines each stood in first place in the records as compiled there and in the national standing each was 12th, in the list of archers over the nation. Records are compiled for the nation at the national headquarters. They are now being sent out and Dr. Haines received a list of the standings some time ago. The records made at Fredonia were made with a 50 pound bow.

The honor won by the local folk in the world of archery are noteworthy and both are to be congratulated on their success as they devote much time and practice in the sport.

Stray Leaves From Notebook of Reporter About Town

Today was quite a big day up at the First National Bank. Nope we didn't get all our stale notes out but Charles Conarro celebrated his 64th anniversary with the bank. And as he says "the toughest part of it is that before going to the First National I was with the Warren Savings bank, having started work there on June 1st, '76" Mr. Conarro is enjoying most wonderful health, his memory is first class and he is an avid follower of the events of the day. "Everyonce in a while" he said today "I get a letter from William Muir and he says 'Charley I read about you folks up in Warren wading through the snow and I really think that the older generation is a little tougher than the younger one'. It maybe that he is right as I have never been really sick. Perhaps though bankers do live longer as they are indoors a great deal and not exposed so much to the weather".

Anyway Mr. Conarro is on the job every day and his many friends and business associates today are extending wishes that it may be many more years that they will find him at his desk at the bank.

burgh Saturday night and visited his mother Irene Walters until Sunday at 4:30 and started back early as owing to the snow he was afraid the roads would be bad.

Despite bad driving conditions 14 members and two guests, Mrs. Wade Ransom and Mrs. Mendel Lawson spent a delightful evening in the pleastnt home of Mrs. Clair Hendrickson in Youngsville, Jan. 18th. The president, Mrs. Ernest Crull, presided and as this was the first meeting of the new year chose "New Years Pageant" for the topic. The year was divided into seasons, and then into months with wishes for each month of 1945 and all culminating into one big wish for "Peace".

The fourth chapter of Proverbs was read as the scripture lesson. During the business session, Mrs. Roy Lightner presented a splendid report as treasurer of the society. It was accepted with thanks. The free will offering for the evening added much to the treasury whose funds aid in some of the expenditures of the church it represents. The social part of the meeting was spent in visiting and the enjoyment of delicious refreshments served by the hostess at prettily candle lighted tables in dining room.

Mrs. Ben Huckabone of Starbrick will be the hostess on Thursday evening, Feb. 15th and it is hoped the weather moderates by then, if not before.

TREE RECORATIONS

The custom of decorating evergreen trees was started by Boniface, a missionary to Germany in the eighth century, when he adorned a fir tree in tribute to the Christ child. The Prince Concort Albert introduced the charming custom to England, where it was adopted with enthusiasm.
